Report Is Sought By Senators About Wake Conference

Some Republicans Blame President for 'Leak' in Document to Hurt MacArthur

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Senators called on Gen. Omar N. Bradley today to explain how a formerly top secret account of President Truman's Wake Island conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur came into existence.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of two committees looking into the policy dispute involved in the President's firing of MacArthur as Pacific commander, told a reporter he had asked Bradley in a letter to him how the report was prepared. Bradley is chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Despite its top secret classification, what was described as a summary of the report was published recently. Some Republicans accused the administration of having "leaked" the document in an attempt to discredit MacArthur. Several blamed Mr. Truman himself.

Among other things, the account as published in the New York Times described MacArthur as not believing in the October, 1950, conference that Red China would intervene in the Korean fighting.

Not From Commander
MacArthur's aides have said intelligence on the Chinese Communist intervention—which the general said created a "new war"—should have come from Washington and not the field commander.

Russell will preside when the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees formally open an inquiry Thursday—with MacArthur as the first witness—into the policy disagreement.

Russell is chairman of the armed services committee. As a preliminary to those hearings, which the groups have voted to hold behind closed doors, Senators yesterday questioned Felix Larkin, general counsel of the Defense Department.

Russell quoted Larkin as saying he did not believe an official report was present when the President and five advisers sat down with MacArthur at Wake Island. Mr. Truman and the general previously had talked alone for an hour.

Conversational Form
Yet lawmakers said when the document was declassified and opened to their inspection yesterday, they found it was in conversational form carrying what purported to be direct statements of participants in the conference.

Some of the lawmakers compared it with the Congressional Record's report on Senate and House debates, adding that it went so far as to bracket in the word "laughter" at some points.

Russell said Larkin appeared to believe the document had been prepared from notes of participants. The Georgia senator said (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Three Men Survive Route 28 Crash

Auto Snaps 15 Steel Posts and Goes Into Woods; Conditions 'Fair'

Three young men were critically injured Monday evening when their car left the Ontario Trail about a mile east of West Hurley, plowed through 15 steel guard rails and came to a halt some distance off the road in the woods.

Taken to the Kingston Hospital by the Citizens' Hose Company ambulance of Catskill, which is covering for the W. N. Conner Ambulance Service due to the death of W. N. Conner, was Ralph T. Carpio of 79 West O'Reilly street, Kingston, owner of the Oldsmobile car; Louis Nekos of 321 Washington avenue, and Cornelius LeFever of Orchard street, Hurley.

The condition of the young men was such that it was impossible to ascertain from them what caused the accident.

At the hospital today the condition of the three was reported to be "apparently fair."

The young men were driving toward Kingston about 9:30 o'clock last evening when the accident occurred. Jailer Arthur Brown and Deputy Sheriff D. Sapp made an investigation. They reported the 1950 car had left the road and after breaking down the steel guard rail posts on the right side of the highway, had run off into the woods. The car was wrecked.

Ominous Buildup of Enemy Seen on Invasion Route

Tokyo, May 1 (AP)—Communist troops preparing for a new attack in central Korea today cut off the water supply for rivers blocking their invasion route.

The Han river dropped so sharply that United Nations engineers had to adjust pontoon bridges three times Tuesday.

An allied spokesman said the Chinese closed the sluice gates to the Hwachon dam in an effort to dry up the Pukhan and Han rivers. That would make it easier for Red assault forces to cross.

Censors prevented correspondents from saying how much the river had fallen.

Simultaneously the Reds shifted their forces to the central front after massed allied artillery, naval guns and record swarms of planes disrupted their plans for a May Day assault on Seoul.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky described the buildup of Red forces along the Chunchon-Hongchon invasion route as ominous.

United Nations artillery roared off Tuesday night in an effort to break up some of the Red concentrations on this old central Korean battlefield.

Concentrations Broken
A heavily censored dispatch from Polowetzky said American artillery broke up two small concentrations. One was southeast of Red-held Chunchon. The other was north of Hongchon, to which the U. S. First Marine Division pulled back recently from Hwachon reservoir.

There were no reports of ground action of any size on May Day either on the central front or in the west near Seoul, where the Reds had hoped to celebrate their international holiday.

Three Red tank columns probed northeast of Seoul Tuesday morning in an unsuccessful hunt for Reds. Only a few bodies remained in one sector where 1,000 dead Chinese were seen Monday. Reds had removed or buried their dead during the night.

A censored dispatch from AP Correspondent George MacArthur said UN commanders estimated the main body of Reds still in the west was staying far enough north to keep out of range of devastating American artillery.

So few targets were left within their range that allied batteries spent a comparatively silent May Day after Monday's terrific barages. Allied big guns missed the extreme range of UN guns and forward Chinese elements. Small advanced Red pockets were hit by fire bombs.

It was a different story Monday when the Chinese masses were threatened to sweep on Seoul.

Allied big guns in the Seoul suburbs pumped thousands of shells into the hills to the north where the Communists were swarming. Warships off Inchon port laid down a heavy curtain of fire northwest of the old South Korean capital.

And American planes mounted "the greatest air effort of the Korean war."

New Air Record
Far Eastern Air Forces reported 1,277 sorties, a new air record, "smashed a determined large scale Communist supply buildup."

Red jets made a brief challenge of allied war supremacy Tuesday. One was probably shot down and four were damaged.

The battle was fought over northwestern Korea between 25 Russian-made MIG-15s and 25 American F-86 Sabre jets. The battle started at 40,000 feet and swirled down to 2,000 feet where the Red broke off and streaked back across the Yalu river to Manchuria.

Victorious American pilots said one Red jet was seen plummeting toward the earth at 2,000 feet. Four others were hit. U. S. jets were untouched.

Allies lost two fighter planes Monday to ground fire. Red ground forces had brought tanks and artillery down from the north to bulwark their planned May Day attack on Seoul. Seven tanks were hit.

75,000 Casualties
UN scouting parties knifing through the hills north of the South Korean capital Tuesday found only bodies of Reds caught in the explosive barrage of allied planes and guns. And a few hungry prisoners.

The nine-day toll of Reds mounted toward 75,000 casualties. What Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. 8th Army commander, will do about stopping the Reds when they attack again was not mentioned. He said he would stop them north of the Han and (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Draftee Reported Seriously Ill in Naval Hospital

Young Man Is Smuggled From Missouri Camp by His Parents; 'Very Sick'

Chicago, May 1 (AP)—An army draftee, smuggled from camp by his distraught parents for medical treatment, was reported in serious condition in a naval hospital today.

Naval doctors said the soldier, Pvt. Stanley Amborski, is suffering from virus pneumonia in both lungs. They described the 21-year-old soldier as "a very sick young man."

The army, meanwhile, said the ailing GI was "absent without leave" from his training camp at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

The youth's father, John Amborski, 45, said he planned to get a medical discharge for his son.

The elder Amborski said he had written Rep. Richard Vail (R-Ill.) in Washington "and expect to get some action on this matter."

Young Amborski was brought to Chicago Sunday from the army camp by his family—his parents, his wife, his brother and three sisters. The father said he took his son from the camp without formal permission because of Stanley's sickness.

Complained of Illness
Amborski, 45, a printing company inspector, said Stanley had written complaining he was ill and unable to get proper medical treatment at the camp. In one of his letters, the elder Amborski said Stanley wrote: "Get me out, Dad. I'm going to fall dead soon."

But Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, the camp commander, said young Amborski had been treated five times in dispensaries or the post hospital since his induction on April 2.

Grand Jury Might Call On Dewey

Recess Is Taken

Work of Picking Jury Is Delayed Until May 9

Ballston Spa, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—A state-ordered special grand jury probing any gambling-political links in Saratoga county may hear testimony by Governor Dewey and gambling kings Frank Costello, Joe Adonis and Meyer Lansky.

Sidney B. Gordon, special assistant to the chief prosecutor, told a reporter last night that if the grand jury demanded that Dewey testify, "there is no way we could avoid it."

He was queried after the tough job of picking a jury had been recessed until May 9.

Six Republicans, including two women, were selected before an initial 36-member panel of prospective jurors was exhausted in the first day's selection. A second panel of 36 was drawn for the next session.

Must Have 16 Persons
The jury must comprise at least 16 persons, and not more than 23. It might take a month to draw a full jury, Gordon said.

The sweeping inquiry of the upstate Republican county was ordered by Dewey after high state police officials testified before the U. S. Senate's crime committee that "wide open" illegal gambling had flourished in Saratoga Springs, famed horse-racing center.

Dewey refused to go to New York city to testify before the Kefauver group. Instead, he invited the investigators to Albany, where he was ill with a virus infection. Dewey now is vacationing in Bermuda, but is expected to return within a week or so.

In ordering the special inquiry, Dewey directed Special Prosecutor John M. Minton to probe "the relationship between organized gambling and criminal racketeers in the city of Saratoga and Saratoga county," and "the relationship between organized gambling and any public officer or political figure."

Names Drawn In
The names of Costello, Adonis and Lansky were drawn into the proceedings yesterday when Minton read to prospective jurors a list of 19 names, all of whom figured in some way in the Kefauver testimony. The list included the name of Superintendent John A. Gaffney of the state police and two other top state police officials, Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey and Inspector Charles LaForge.

A newsman asked Minton if Costello, Adonis and Lansky might be summoned before the jury. The special prosecutor replied: "Sure. Sure. Might be. That's all I can say."

Minton also gave each venireman a list of 235 names, almost all of whom are present or former county, town or village officials in Saratoga county. Prospective jurors were asked whether (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Farley Cites Effect Of Crime on Youth

New York, May 1 (AP)—James A. Farley says the "scandalous conduct of many public officials," as disclosed in recent investigations, has had a bad effect on youthful minds.

Farley says some officials "have been shown up as violators of the ordinary decencies which govern the lives of honest men and women."

The former Democratic national chairman and postmaster general did not mention any names in making the comment at a dinner in his honor last night.

Proceeds of the dinner will be used for the Gold Star Gymnasium of Power Memorial Academy.

22 Points Are Reviewed by Senate Group

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The Senate Crime Committee today made 22 specific recommendations for new legislation. Boiled down to bare essentials, they would provide:

1. A continuing check by Congress, for a limited period, on organized crime and federal law enforcement efforts.

2. A new racket squad in the Justice Department.

3. A federal crime commission of three members to keep an eye on organized crime, maintain federal-state liaison and suggest further legislation.

4. A continuing check of income tax returns of all known criminals by the newly-established fraud squad in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

5. Enforcement of regulations which require taxpayers to keep adequate records, especially in the case of criminals who the committee said "are continually flouting them."

6. Maintenance of daily records by gambling casinos, including records of individual wagers in casinos in states where such gambling is illegal.

No Gambling Deductions
7. A change in the law so it would no longer be possible to deduct any wagering losses or expenses for income tax purposes. Losses can now be deducted from winnings.

8. Regulation of the interstate transmission of gambling information to outlaw "any service devoted to a substantial extent to providing information used in illegal gambling."

9. Filing of net-worth statements by persons engaged in illegitimate business netting more than $2,500 a year.

10. Denial of interstate communications including the mails to make or pay off debts.

11. A ban on interstate shipment of such devices as punchboards and roulette wheels.

Stiffer Narcotics Penalties
12. Stiffer penalties for violation of narcotics laws.

13. Increased penalties for criminal and other undesirable aliens.

14. A change in the immigration laws to provide punishment for smuggling, concealing or harboring aliens illegally in this country.

15. Authority for the attorney general to deport naturalized aliens found to be ineligible to remain in this country.

16. An increase in the personnel of federal law enforcement agencies, especially the Narcotics Bureau.

17. Tightening of the laws against perjury.

18. Authority for the attorney general to grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses whose testimony he finds essential.

Service by Publication
19. Service by publication of subpoenas on persons who evade personal service.

20. Laws to prevent racketeering interests from entering the liquor industry and to eliminate any now in it.

21. A change in liquor laws to require that all "beneficial owners" be listed on federal permits and that applicants disclose all previous arrests and convictions.

FBI to Examine Reles' Bedsheets

'Possible Clues' Sought; to Check Whether There Was Any Strain

New York, May 1 (AP)—FBI experts will examine two bedsheets and a spread in a hunt for new clues in the mystery death of Abe (Kid Twist) Reles who plunged to death a decade ago from a sixth-floor room of Coney Island's Half Moon Hotel.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Edward S. Silver, who recently reopened a probe into the gangster's death, said the bedclothing would be sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for "possible" clues.

FBI experts will be asked to determine whether the sheets and spread had been subjected to the strain of Reles' weight just before he dropped—or merely were "props" to cover up a murder.

At the time of his death Reles was in protective custody as a state witness in the prosecution of members of the Murder, Inc. mob. The sheets were found hanging from Reles' window and supposedly were used by him in an escape attempt. The spread was found inside the room, torn in two. Six policemen were assigned to guard Reles while he was in protective custody.

Case Was Reopened
The Reles case was reopened by Brooklyn authorities after testimony before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee indicated the gangster possibly was pushed from the window.

Underworld Boss Wields Stick in Democratic Politics, They Say

By JOHN CHADWICK
Washington, May 1 (AP)—Senate Crime investigators today accused Ambassador William O'Dwyer of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York city, where they said underworld kingpin Frank Costello is a power in Democratic politics.

O'Dwyer was New York's mayor from 1946 until last fall when President Truman appointed him ambassador to Mexico. From 1940 to 1942 O'Dwyer was district attorney of Kings county (Brooklyn).

Referring to O'Dwyer's tenure both as mayor and district attorney, the crime committee had this to say in a lengthy and hard-hitting report on its year-long probe of gangsterism:

"Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

Named Gangsters Friends
The crime probes, headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), also said O'Dwyer had named to high public office city kingpins Costello and Joe Adonis, another big-time racketeer and gambler.

And after a lengthy detailing of Costello's alleged political manipulations, the Senate committee summed up in these words:

"It is apparent to the committee that despite Costello's protestations, his sinister influence is still strong in the councils of the Democratic party organization of New York county."

The senators devoted about 35 pages of the 185-page report to their New York city investigation, where O'Dwyer and Costello were the major witnesses at hearings viewed on television by upwards of 20,000,000 persons.

The report, rushed to completion late last night, also asked Congress for a batch of laws aimed at throttling the nation's big crime and gambling syndicates by cutting the profits out from under them.

"Gambling profits are the principal support of big-time racketeering and gangsterism," the senators said.

Legislation Recommended
They recommended legislation to outlaw transmission across state lines of information for illegal gambling, to prohibit illegal gambling losses or expenses from being deducted for income tax purposes, to deny use of the mails or other interstate communications to make or pay off bets, to ban the interstate transmission of punchboards, roulette wheels and other gaming devices and to require gambling casinos to keep detailed records of money won and lost.

With a reminder that "money is the key to power in the underworld," the committee also called for tougher tax laws and penalties to trip up gangsters, including requirements for full records of income and expenses and statements of "net worth."

The senators commended the Internal Revenue Bureau for setting up a special fraud squad and urged the Justice Department to create a racket squad "to clean the country of racketeers, gangsters and organized criminal gangs."

Rests With Officials
They said, however, that the primary responsibility for cleaning up the underworld rests with state and local officials.

Other proposals asked stiffer penalties for dope peddling, tightening of immigration laws to rid the country of undesirable aliens, (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

May Day Slogan Is Peace On Both Sides of Red Curtain

London, May 1 (AP)—Workers on both sides of the Communist fence staged May Day parades for peace today, while in Korea UN forces continued their desperate fight against Red China's legions.

Peace was the slogan of the day throughout the world, but governments everywhere were on guard against violence as Communists and non-Communists prepared to hold traditional rallies and marches.

In Korea, allied commanders expressed belief their guns and planes had halted the Red bid to seize the southern capital of Seoul as a May Day trophy. UN forces remained braced for an onslaught, however, for there was strong evidence the Communists had not given up the fight for the city.

In Moscow, Generalissimo Stalin appeared atop Lenin's tomb to view what was expected to be the biggest show of the day and the one where trouble was least likely. As Russian military might paraded past Red Square and thousands of citizens waved banners calling for "peace," the Soviet leader's son, Lt. Gen. Vassili Stalin, led into view a flight "hundreds of planes," including jet formations, Moscow radio said.

Similar parades were planned in Soviet satellite states, featuring slogans in praise of Stalin and jibes against the "war-mongering west."

Premier Marshal Tito. He is recovering from a gallstone operation.

In the divided city of Berlin, both western and Soviet sector police were mobilized for an expected turnout of 1,000,000 Germans at rival east and west celebrations. The official slogan of the west Berlin rally was "Peace and liberty." The cry for the east was "For peace—against remilitarization."

Riot squads were alerted in Vienna, where a huge Socialist parade was followed by a smaller Communist procession. Last night some 10,000 Viennese Socialist youths staged a procession through the city, chanting "We don't want the Russian swine," and "We don't want the U.S.A."

There was danger of clashes in the west European Red strongholds of France and Italy.

In France, where May Day is a national holiday, activities centered on Paris. The Communists were to parade on one side of the city. On the other side, Gen. Charles de Gaulle was to address a rally of his right-wing supporters.

In Rome two giant rallies also were planned—one by the Communist-led Confederation of Labor, the other by the anti-Red Italian Confederation of Trade Unions.

Chambers Street Man, 45, Is Found Dead in Auto

Kenneth Calvin Delaney, 45, of 79 Chambers street was found dead in his car at the old Brigham lime quarry, East Kingston, Monday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock by Donald Watzka of East Kingston.

Death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning and Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, who made an investigation, pronounced the case one of suicide. Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Chief County Investigator Leonard Belmonte conducted an investigation.

Watzka informed the officials that he had been at the scene on Sunday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock and at the time he saw the car and the motor was running. He made no further investigation at the time but on his return to the vicinity Monday afternoon again observed the car. The motor was not running and he inspected the car and found Delaney dead. He notified the sheriff's office.

Delaney is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Delaney; a stepdaughter, Patricia Krakowski and two brothers, Wilbur and Harold Delaney of this city.

The body was turned over to the W. N. Conner Funeral Home. Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home where funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Meets His Father

Earlier, when he entered the immigration room, Vogeler was met by his father, Willy Vogeler, of Queens. The two embraced.

His attractive blonde wife, Lucile, who had maintained a long vigil in Vienna while seeking his release, accompanied him home. So did their two sons, Bobby, 11 and Billy, 9.

More than 100 persons including several A.T. and T. officials, met the party at the airport.

As they were leaving, a reporter asked Mrs. Vogeler where the family was going. "I haven't the slightest idea," she said. When their plane landed more than an hour earlier, U. S. Health Service agents boarded it to clear the family and speed them through customs.

In Moscow, Generalissimo Stalin appeared atop Lenin's tomb to view what was expected to be the biggest show of the day and the one where trouble was least likely. As Russian military might paraded past Red Square and thousands of citizens waved banners calling for "peace," the Soviet leader's son, Lt. Gen. Vassili Stalin, led into view a flight of "hundreds of planes," including jet formations, Moscow radio said.

Similar parades were planned in Soviet satellite states, featuring slogans in praise of Stalin and jibes against the "war-mongering west."

Grand Jury Might Call On Dewey

Work of Picking Jury Is Delayed Until May 9

Ballston Spa, N. Y., May 1 (P)—A state-ordered special grand jury probing any gambling-political links in Saratoga county may hear testimony by Governor Dewey and gambling kings Frank Costello, Joe Adonis and Meyer Lansky.

Sidney B. Gordon, special assistant to the chief prosecutor, told a reporter last night that if the grand jury demanded that Dewey testify, "there is no way we could avoid it."

He was queried after the tough job of picking a jury had been recessed until May 9.

Six Republicans, including two women, were selected before an initial 36-member panel of prospective jurors was exhausted in the first day of selection. A second panel of 36 was drawn for the next session.

Must Have 16 Persons
The jury must comprise at least 16 persons, and not more than 23. It might take a month to draw a full jury, Gordon said.

The sweeping inquiry of the upstate Republican county was ordered by Dewey after high state police officials testified before the U. S. Senate's crime committee that "wide open," illegal gambling had flourished in Saratoga Springs, famed horse-racing center.

Dewey refused to go to New York city to testify before the Kefauver group. Instead, he invited the investigators to Albany, where he was ill with a virus infection. Dewey now is vacationing in Bermuda, but is expected to return within a week or so.

In ordering the special inquiry, Dewey directed Special Prosecutor John M. Minton to probe the relationship between organized gambling and criminal racketeers in the city of Saratoga and Saratoga county, and "the relationship between organized gambling and any public officer or political figure."

Names Drawn In
The names of Costello, Adonis and Lansky were drawn into the proceedings yesterday when Minton read to prospective jurors a list of 19 names, all of whom figured in some way in the Kefauver testimony. The list included the names of Superintendent John A. Gaffney of the state police and two other top state police officials, Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey and Inspector Charles LaForge.

A newsman asked Minton if Costello, Adonis and Lansky might be summoned before the jury. The special prosecutor replied: "Sure. Sure. Might be. That's all I can say."

Minton also gave each venireman a list of 235 names, almost all of whom are present or former county, town or village officials in Saratoga county. Prospective jurors were asked whether (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Farley Cites Effect Of Crime on Youth

New York, May 1 (P)—James A. Farley says the "scandalous conduct of many public officials," as disclosed in recent investigations, has had a bad effect on youthful minds.

Farley says some officials "have been shown up as violators of the ordinary decencies which govern the lives of honest men and women."

The former Democratic national chairman and postmaster general did not mention any names in making the comment at a dinner in his honor last night.

Proceeds of the dinner will be used for the Gold Star Gymnasium of Power Memorial Academy.

22 Points Are Reviewed by Senate Group

Washington, May 1 (P)—The Senate Crime Committee today made 22 specific recommendations for new legislation. Boiled down to bare essentials, they would provide:

1. A continuing check by Congress, for a limited period, on organized crime and federal law enforcement efforts.

2. A new racket squad in the Justice Department.

3. A federal crime commission of three members to keep an eye on organized crime, maintain federal-state liaison and suggest further legislation.

4. A continuing check of income tax returns of all known criminals by the newly-established fraud squad in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

5. Enforcement of regulations which require taxpayers to keep adequate records, especially in the case of criminals who the committee said "are continually flouting them."

6. Maintenance of daily records by gambling casinos, including records of individual wagers in casinos in states where such gambling is illegal.

No Gambling Deductions
7. A change in the law so it would no longer be possible to deduct any wagering losses or expenses for income tax purposes. Losses can now be deducted from winnings.

8. Regulation of the interstate transmission of gambling information to outlaw "any service devoted to a substantial extent to providing information used in illegal gambling."

9. The filing of net-worth statements by persons engaged in illegitimate business netting more than $2,500 a year.

10. Denial of interstate communications including the mails to make or pay off debts.

11. A ban on interstate shipment of such devices as punchboards and roulette wheels.

Stiffer Narcotics Penalties
12. Stiffer penalties for violation of narcotics laws.

13. Easier deportation of criminal and other undesirable aliens.

14. A change in the immigration laws to provide punishment for smuggling, concealing or harboring aliens illegally in this country.

15. Authority for the attorney general to deport naturalized aliens found to be ineligible to remain in this country.

16. An increase in the personnel of federal law enforcement agencies, especially the Narcotics Bureau.

17. Tightening of the laws against perjury.

18. Authority for the attorney general to grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses whose testimony he finds essential.

Service by Publication
19. Service by publication of subpoenas on persons who evade personal service.

20. Laws to prevent racketeering interests from entering the liquor industry and to eliminate any now in it.

21. A change in liquor laws to require that all "beneficial owners" be listed on federal permits and that applicants disclose all previous arrests and convictions.

22. Authority for the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider moral fitness when it passes on applications for permission to operate transportation businesses.

On Last Leg of Flight Home

'Possible Clues' Sought; to Check Whether There Was Any Strain

New York, May 1 (P)—FBI experts will examine two bedsheets and a spread in a hunt for new clues in the mystery death of Abe (Kid Twist) Reles who plunged to death a decade ago from a sixth-floor room of Coney Island's Half Moon Hotel.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Edward S. Silver, who recently reopened a probe into the gangster's death, said the bedclothing would be sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for "possible" clues.

FBI experts will be asked to determine whether the sheets and spread had been subjected to the strain of Reles' weight just before he dropped—or merely were "props" to cover up a murder.

At the time of his death Reles was in protective custody as a state witness in the prosecution of members of the Murder, Inc. mob. The sheets were found hanging from Reles' window and supposedly were used by him in an escape attempt. The spread was found inside the room, torn in two. Six policemen were assigned to guard Reles while he was in protective custody.

Case Was Reopened
The Reles case was reopened by Brooklyn authorities after testimony before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee indicated the gangster possibly was pushed from the window.

Flashbulbs Flare
Flashbulbs flared in rapid order as he was escorted by police through a milling throng.

His head bowed, Vogeler seemed momentarily confused by the clamor. He walked past the array of microphones, and was directed back to them. He started to speak, then stopped, waiting for his wife to come to his side.

Vogeler, a native of Hungary, was freed after prolonged negotiations between the United States and Hungary. His party left Vienna by plane yesterday.

"I can't express my gratitude," he said, "for the support of all my fellow citizens in the United States and all official agencies, especially the State Department, and for all the efforts made in my behalf."

Meets His Father
Earlier, when he entered the immigration room, Vogeler was met by his father, Willy Vogeler, of Queens. The two embraced.

His attractive blonde wife, Lucile, who had maintained a long vigil in Vienna while seeking his release, accompanied him home. So did their two sons, Bobby, 11 and Billy, 9.

More than 100 persons including several A.T. and T. officials, met the party at the airport.

As they were leaving, a reporter asked Mrs. Vogeler where the family was going. "I haven't the slightest idea," she said.

When their plane landed more than an hour earlier, U. S. Health Service agents boarded it to clear the family and speed them through customs.

Costello Is Power

By JOHN CHADWICK
Washington, May 1 (P)—Senate Crime investigators today accused Ambassador William O'Dwyer of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York city, where they said underworld kingpin Frank Costello is a power in Democratic politics.

O'Dwyer was New York's mayor or from 1946 until last fall when President Truman appointed him ambassador to Mexico. From 1940 to 1942 O'Dwyer was district attorney of Kings county (Brooklyn).

Referring to O'Dwyer's tenure both as mayor and district attorney, the crime committee had this to say in a lengthy and hard-hitting report on its year-long probe of gangsterism:

"Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

Named Gangsters' Friends
The crime probe, headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), also said O'Dwyer had named to high public office friends of Costello and Joe Adonis, another big-time racketeer and gambler.

And after a lengthy detailing of Costello's alleged political manipulations, the Senate committee summed up in these words:

"It is apparent to the committee that despite Costello's protestations, his sinister influence is still strong in the councils of the Democratic party organization of New York county."

The senators devoted about 35 pages of the 185-page report to their New York city investigation, where O'Dwyer and Costello were the major witnesses at hearings viewed on television by upwards of 20,000,000 persons.

The report, rushed to completion late last night, also asked Congress for a batch of laws aimed at throttling the nation's big crime and gambling syndicates by cutting the profits out from under them.

"Gambling profits are the principal support of big-time racketeering and gangsterism," the senator said.

Legislation Recommended
They recommended legislation to outlaw transmission across state lines of information for illegal gambling, to prohibit illegal gambling losses or expenses from being deducted for income tax purposes, to deny use of the mails or other interstate communications to make or pay off bets, to ban the interstate transmission of punchboards, roulette wheels and other gaming devices and to require gambling casinos to keep detailed records of money won and lost.

With a reminder that "money is the key to power in the underworld," the committee also called for tougher tax laws and penalties to trip up gangsters, including requirements for full records of income and expenses and statements of "net worth."

The senators commended the Internal Revenue Bureau for setting up a special fraud squad and urged the Justice Department to create a racket squad "to clean the country of racketeers, gangsters and organized criminal gangs."

Rests With Officials
They said, however, that the primary responsibility for cleaning up the underworld rests with state and local officials.

Other proposals asked stiffer penalties for dope peddling, tightening of immigration laws to rid the country of undesirable aliens, (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Chambers Street Man, 45, Is Found Dead in Auto

Kenneth Calvin Delaney, 45, of 79 Chambers street was found dead in his car at the old Brigham lime quarry, East Kingston, Monday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock by Donald Watzka of East Kingston.

Death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning and Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, who made an investigation, pronounced the case one of suicide. Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Chief County Investigator Leonard Belmore conducted an investigation.

Watzka informed the officials that he had been at the scene on Sunday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock and at that time he saw the car and the motor was running.

He made no further investigation at the time but on his return to the vicinity Monday afternoon again observed the car. The motor was not running and he inspected the car and found Delaney dead. He notified the sheriff's office.

Delaney is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Delaney; a stepdaughter, Patricia Krakowski and two brothers, Wilbur and Harold Delaney of this city.

The body was turned over to the W. N. Conner Funeral Home. Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home where funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Two Persons Killed
La Paz, Bolivia, May 1 (AP)—A pre-election flareup between government and opposition factions resulted last night in two persons shot dead and 12 others injured. The clash occurred when followers of the opposition Revolutionary Nationalist Movement (MNR) approached a car in which pro-government candidate Gabriel Gonzalez was riding. Government party supporters stopped them and the gunfire followed. Police broke up the skirmish and arrested several persons.

Auto Ceiling Extended
Washington, May 1 (AP)—The government today extended indefinitely the present ceiling prices on passenger automobiles. The Office of Price Stabilization order also directed that manufacturers make reductions from charges for cars delivered without a spare tire and tube. The National Production Authority sometime ago banned spare tires and tubes as equipment for new cars.

Leaders Are Picked
London, May 1 (AP)—The British government today picked three military leaders—one each from the army, navy and air force—to direct the defense of the United Kingdom in event of war. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey, 54-year-old veteran of both world wars, will head the triumvirate. He will act as chairman and hold command of all land forces. His associates will be the commander-in-chief at the Portsmouth Navy Yard and the chief of the Royal Air Force Fighter Command. Admiral Sir Arthur Power currently holds the Portsmouth post. If Britain is attacked, he will control all naval forces in home waters. Air Marshal Sir Basil Embry is chief of the fighter command. His job will be to defend the island against enemy bombing.

Rubber Amount Boosted
Washington, May 1 (AP)—The government today boosted the amount of rubber it allows for civilian goods, allocating 97,100 long tons for May, compared with 89,100 in April. The National Production Authority also allowed rubber consumption increased to 100 per cent of 1950 use for a number of industrial, commercial and medical items. However, some products including passenger car tires and tubes were held to April's 90 per cent of 1950 production. The NPA said this would allow production of non-restricted rubber items to rise above 100 per cent of the 1950 production rate.

Treasury Receipts
Washington, May 1 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 27: Net budget receipts, $101,279,803.37; budget expenditures, $158,146,328.14; cash balance, $7,019,530,153.47; customs receipts for month $51,298,533.41; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $37,831,418,958.48; budget expenditures fiscal year, $33,677,092,074.45; budget surplus, $4,154,326,884.03; total debt, $254,687,533,311.82; increase over previous day, $3,797,317.95; gold assets, $21,006,503,731.04.

Pigeons Easy Prey
Sydney (AP)—The Supervisor of Parks and Gardens at Newcastle plans to rid the city of pigeons by getting them drunk. All the conventional methods have failed, he says. The supervisor, M. Sivert, told a reporter: "The pigeons' attacks on poppy and pansy plants in our parks have frustrated our efforts to beautify the city for the Jubilee celebrations. Every night I'm going to place dishes of rum-soaked wheat in all the parks. A pigeon with a hangover and the stagers should be an easy victim for early morning catchers," he said.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 1 (AP)—Stocks made a good showing in just about every department of an active market today.

There was a considerable irregularity evident in some of the major groups, but strength of individual issues held prices up on average.

Automobiles turned stronger after the Office of Price Stabilization froze current prices indefinitely. Chrysler was a leader. Rails sagged here and there, but in general reflected of new demands for more money from three of the four operating rail unions.

U. S. Rubber gained more than two points. First quarter earnings came to $4.41 a share as against $1.49 a year ago.
Radio Corp. stood ahead in the radio-TV division. First quarter profits amounted to 80 cents a share as against 75 cents last year.

Armco Preferred lost more than $2 after the issue was called for redemption June 14 at $103 and accrued dividends. It closed last night at 115 1/4.

Lockheed was a leader in aircrafts with a gain of more than a point at times. The company announced new orders for jet trainers from the air force and navy.

Timken Detroit axle added a major fraction after declaration of a 4 per cent stock dividend on Common.

Two Women Injured In Phoenicia Crash

Mrs. Meta Rosa of Shandaken and Clare Hudler of Mt. Tremper were injured Sunday evening about 9 o'clock in a car accident on a half mile east of Phoenicia on the Ontario Trail. They were treated by Dr. Charles A. Quinn of Phoenicia.

The accident was investigated by State Police Corporal Ray Dunn of Phoenicia who reported the car of Robert E. Hudler of Mt. Tremper and the car of George Rosa of Shandaken had collided. Mrs. Rosa received contusions of the left leg and over the right eye and Clare Hudler received contusions of the right leg.

Really Laid It On
Los Angeles, May 1 (AP)—Her husband called his secretary "the most passionate woman I ever met," says Mrs. Marian Burns. He left her for the secretary, she said yesterday in suing Erwin Burns for separate maintenance after 21 years of marriage. Mrs. Burns demanded half of more than $1,000,000 in community property, including a tool business, a Nevada ranch, a $225,000 home here and bank accounts. She also seeks $1,500 a month and custody of their two children. Mrs. Burns said she objected to her husband about the secretary, Alberta (Betty) Barron, but that his reply was: "Go get yourself a soul mate."

Drinking Is Blamed
Washington, May 1 (AP)—A Methodist temperance leader declared today that "heavy drinking at Yalta, Telran and Potsdam" is partly responsible for world conditions today. Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church, challenged what he said was a State Department request for $1,000,000 for wines and liquors to be served at official functions. He said in a statement that Congress should reject that requested appropriation.

Must Close Consulate
Paris, May 1 (AP)—The Communist Czech government has told France to close its consulate in Prague before May 5. The French foreign minister, announcing this today, said it would agree and that consulate affairs would be handled by other branches of the French Embassy. The closing of the Czech consulate at Marseille was announced yesterday. The Prague action was apparently taken in reprisal.

Vishinsky Is Absent
Moscow, May 1 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was absent today from the annual May Day parade and his ministry was preoccupied by his deputy, V. A. Zorin. Vishinsky has not resumed his duties in the foreign ministry. The foreign ministry reported a month ago that he was recovering from an illness.

Brown Sells His Tire, Gas Business

Harris Brown, who for 40 years has conducted a tire and gas service in Kingston under the name of Brown's Servicenter, Inc., has sold his business to the Royal Tire Service. The new owners are James Mack and Angelo Zangrillo.

Edward Rothery, who has been associated with Mr. Brown for the past 28 years, will continue as manager. Kenneth Riel, who has been with Mr. Brown as bookkeeper for past 15 years will associate himself with the Kaplan Furniture Company of 66-68 North Front street.

The new concern at 785 Broadway will be jobbers and distributors for United States tires, accessories and batteries and other United States Rubber Company products. In the future they anticipate installing one of the largest and most modern recapping plants in the state of New York for the recapping of all size truck and passenger car tires.

To Enter Insurance
Harris Brown will associate himself with Sidney Flisser of 753 Broadway, in the insurance and real estate business where he will be pleased to see his many old friends.

Mr. Brown was a pioneer in the tire business in Kingston, entering the business when the automobile industry was still in its infancy. Early in the business he established a slogan which was widely known throughout the area, "If it tires, see Brown." His small business on Downs street was expanded over the years until he operated one of the largest tire businesses in the Hudson valley.

About the Folks

Mr. Morris, a past supreme councilor of the United Commercial Travelers of America, will leave tonight for Washington, D. C., where with James G. Daly of Columbus, O., he will attend sessions on May 2 and 3 of the order.

Does Traffic, Gets 30 Days
William Henry Sweeney of Big Indian was arrested by State Police Corporal Ray Dunn who charged that Sweeney was engaged in directing traffic at Willow while under the influence of intoxicants. Sweeney was given 30 days in jail for his voluntary traffic efforts.

Finally Gets Wheels Down

Shannon, Ireland, May 1 (AP)—A trans-Atlantic airliner with 66 passengers aboard, including entertainer Danny Kaye, circled Shannon Airport for three quarters of an hour today with its undercarriage stuck. The pilot finally got the wheels down and the Pan-American stratoscruiser landed safely. Kaye is on his way to London for a Variety Hall engagement.

Riot Call Issued

Columbus, Ga., May 1 (AP)—A police riot call to a Negro district of the city was issued today after a hand grenade or some other explosive object was tossed behind a squad car. Police Capt. J. D. Armstrong reported a free-for-all fight broke out between officers and Negro soldiers from nearby Fort Benning when the officers tried to quell a melee resulting from the blast.

Are YOU Contemplating a Changeover From Coal or Oil to Gas Heating??
BEFORE ACTING CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS:
1. Will I receive a written guarantee that my cost of heating with gas will not exceed the estimate?
2. If, through illness, unemployment, or circumstances beyond my control, I am unable to pay my gas bill when due, will they "take care of me," as my coal or oil dealer does, or will they cut off my service?
3. Will they guarantee in writing, that I will have plenty of gas to heat my home comfortably in below zero weather, as advertised?
4. If the gas supply fails in cold weather, will the gas company pay my doctor bills, should illness result from exposure because of the failure of the gas supply?
5. Will they put all their sales arguments in writing and will they guarantee them?

Two Persons Killed

La Paz, Bolivia, May 1 (AP)—A pre-election flareup between government and opposition factions resulted last night in two persons shot dead and 12 others injured. The clash occurred when followers of the opposition Revolutionary Nationalist Movement (MNR) approached a car in which pro-government candidate Gabriel Gosalvez was riding. Government party supporters stopped them and the gunfire followed. Police broke up the skirmish and arrested several persons.

Auto Ceiling Extended

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The government today extended indefinitely the present ceiling prices on passenger automobiles. The Office of Price Stabilization order also directed that manufacturers make reductions from charges for cars delivered without a spare tire and tube. The National Production Authority sometime ago banned spare tires and tubes as equipment for new cars.

Leaders Are Picked

London, May 1 (AP)—The British government today picked three top military leaders—one each from the army, navy and air force—to direct the defense of the United Kingdom in event of war. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey, 54-year-old veteran of both world wars, will head the triumvirate. He will act as chairman and hold command of all land forces. His associates will be the commander-in-chief at the Portsmouth Navy Yard and the chief of the Royal Air Force Fighter Command. Admiral Sir Arthur Power currently holds the Portsmouth post. If Britain is attacked, he will control all naval forces in home waters. Air Marshal Sir Basil Embry is chief of the fighter command. His job will be to defend the island against enemy bombing.

Rubber Amount Boosted

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The government today boosted the amount of rubber it allows for civilian goods, allocating 97,100 long tons for May, compared with 89,100 in April. The National Production Authority also allowed rubber consumption increased to 100 per cent of 1950 use for a number of industrial, commercial and medical items. However, some products including passenger car tires and tubes were held to April's 90 per cent of 1950 production. The NPA said this would allow production of non-restricted rubber items to rise above 100 per cent of the 1950 production rate.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 27: Net budget receipts, $101,279,803.37; budget expenditures, $158,146,328.14; cash balance, $7,019,530,153.47; customs receipts for month $51,298,533.41; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $37,831,418,958.48; budget expenditures fiscal year, $33,677,092,074.45; budget surplus, $4,154,326,884.03; total debt, $254,687,333,311.82; increase over previous day, $5,797,317.95; gold assets, $21,006,503,731.04.

Pigeons Easy Prey

Sydney (AP)—The Supervisor of Parks and Gardens at Newcastle plans to rid the city of pigeons by getting them drunk. All the conventional methods have failed, he says. The supervisor, M. Sivert, told a reporter: "The pigeons' attacks on poppy and pansy plants in our parks have frustrated our efforts to beautify the city for the Jubilee celebrations. Every night I'm going to place dishes of rum-soaked wheat in all the parks. A pigeon with a hangover and the stagers should be an easy victim for early morning catchers," he said.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 1 (AP)—Stocks made a good showing in just about every department of an active market today.

There was a considerable irregularity evident in some of the major groups, but strength of individual issues held prices up on average.

Automobiles turned stronger after the Office of Price Stabilization froze current prices indefinitely. Chrysler was a leader.

Rails sagged here and there but in general reflected the new demands for more money from three of the four operating rail unions.

U. S. Rubber gained more than two points. First quarter earnings came to $4.41 a share as against $1.49 a year ago.

Radio Corp. stood ahead in the radio-TV division. First quarter profits amounted to 80 cents a share as against 75 cents last year.

Armco Preferred lost more than $2 after the issue was called for redemption June 14 at $103 and accrued dividends. It closed last night at 115 1/4.

Lockheed was a leader in aircrafts with a gain of more than a point at times. The company announced new orders for jet trainers from the air force and navy.

Timken Detroit axle added a major fraction after declaration of a 4 per cent stock dividend on Common.

Two Women Injured In Phenocia Crash

Mrs. Meta Rosa of Shandaken and Clare Hudler of Mt. Tremper were injured Sunday evening about 9 o'clock in a car accident a half mile east of Phenocia on the Ontario Trail. They were treated by Dr. Charles A. Quinn of Phenocia.

The accident was investigated by State Police Corporal Ray Dunn of Phenocia who reported the car of Robert E. Hudler of Mt. Tremper and the car of George Rosa of Shandaken had collided. Mrs. Rosa received contusions of the left leg and over the right eye and Clare Hudler received contusions of the right leg.

Really Laid It On

Los Angeles, May 1 (AP)—Her husband called his secretary "the most passionate woman I ever met," says Mrs. Marian Burns. He left her for the secretary, she said yesterday in suing Erwin Burns for separate maintenance after 21 years of marriage. Mrs. Burns demanded half of more than $1,000,000 in community property, including a tool business, a Nevada ranch, a $225,000 home here and bank accounts. She also seeks $1,500 a month and custody of their two children. Mrs. Burns said she objected to her husband about the secretary, Alberta (Betty) Barron, but that his reply was: "Go get yourself a soul mate."

Drinking Is Blamed

Washington, May 1 (AP)—A Methodist temperance leader declared today that "heavy drinking" at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam is partly responsible for world conditions today. Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church, challenged what he said was a State Department request for $1,000,000 for wines and liquors to be served at official functions. He said in a statement that Congress should reject that requested appropriation.

Must Close Consulate

Paris, May 1 (AP)—The Communist Czech government has told France to close its consulate in Prague before May 5. The French foreign minister, announcing this today, said it would agree and request for $1,000,000 for wines and liquors to be served at official functions. He said in a statement that Congress should reject that requested appropriation.

Vishinsky Is Absent

Moscow, May 1 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was absent today from the annual May Day parade and his ministry was represented by his deputy, V. A. Zorin. Vishinsky has not yet resumed his duties in the foreign ministry. The foreign ministry reported a month ago that he was recovering from an illness.

Brown Sells His Tire, Gas Business

Harris Brown, who for 40 years has conducted a tire and gas service in Kingston under the name of Brown's Servicenter, Inc., has sold his business to the Royal Tire Service. The new owners are James Mack and Angelo Zangrillo. Edward Rothery, who has been associated with Mr. Brown for the past 28 years, will continue as manager. Kenneth Riel, who has been with Mr. Brown as bookkeeper for past 15 years will associate himself with the Kaplan Furniture Company of 66-68 North Front street.

The new concern at 785 Broadway will be jobbers and distributors for United States tires, accessories and batteries and other United States "rubber Company" products. In the future they anticipate installing one of the largest and most modern recapping plants in the state of New York for the recapping of all size truck and passenger car tires.

To Enter Insurance Harris Brown will associate himself with Sidney Flisser of 753 Broadway, in the insurance and real estate business where he will be pleased to see his many old friends.

Mr. Brown was a pioneer in the tire business in Kingston, entering the business when the automobile industry was still in its infancy. Early in the business he established a slogan which was widely known throughout the area, "If it tires, see Brown." His small business on Downs street was expanded over the years until he operated one of the largest tire businesses in the Hudson valley.

Elliott to Head Babcock Memorial Drive in County

Frank Elliott of New Paltz was recently elected chairman for the H. E. Babcock Memorial campaign in Ulster county.

The local area, in cooperation with farmers throughout the northeast, has a goal of $500,000 which will be used at Cornell University to continue the efforts started by Babcock to produce a better national diet.

Babcock, who devoted much of his life to the improvement of diet in America through agricultural innovation, died last year at the age of 61.

More than $300,000 already has been subscribed.

Under Elliott's chairmanship, the committee plans to set up a program in Ulster county to see every farmer, explain the broad purposes of the program and to receive contributions.

Other appointments to committees serving in the county include William T. Hooley, Sr., Lake Katrine; Pratt Boice, Kingston; and Harold V. Story, Ulster Park, representing the Grange.

Also, William Coy, Highland; Frank Elliott, New Paltz; and Frank Aldrich, Lake Katrine, representing the Farm Bureau; and Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., and Mrs. Millard Davis, Kerhonkson, representing the Home Bureau.

Exemption Is Made

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) today exempted sales and distribution of CARE relief packages from existing price regulations, effective May 5.

HOME BUREAU NEWS

Family Life Meeting

The Ulster County Home Bureau announces a county-wide meeting on family life for Monday night, May 7, at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue, in Kingston. Study club members, their husbands and friends are welcome to hear a report on the family life conference recently held at Cornell University, the subject of which was "The Challenge of Growth," by Mrs. Robert Groves and the Misses Everice Parsons and Helen Rowe. The Sauerbrey Child Study Club will give a social drama illustrating one phase of the conference material.

The main speaker will be Mrs. Leonard Palmer, mother of two children, 12 and 8 years of age, who is a kindergarten specialist. Mrs. Palmer has conducted a private pre-school play group and has worked with children of all ages. Her topic will be "Enriching Children's Lives Through Play."

Chairmen of study clubs and family life leaders of Home Bureau units will give one minute reports on the course of study they pursued during the past year. Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, county sponsor, will chairmen the meeting.

Following the program there will be a social hour.

All home demonstration groups in Ulster county are joining those throughout the nation in recognition of National Home Demonstration Week. Each unit is having an exhibit, open house, tea or a combination of these scheduled below.

The theme for the week is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" and the exhibits illustrate accomplishments to that end.

The annual Achievement Day at the Sauerbrey Municipal Auditorium May 3 from 10:15 a. m. to 3 p. m. will give county-wide attention to National Home Demonstration Week when unit chairmen will report on outstanding accomplishments. The meeting is free and open to the public.

The time and place of unit exhibits follows: Accord, Town Hall in Accord, May 1, 2 and 3; Allgerville, Post Office, May 2-May 4; Centerville, Furniture Mart in Sauerbrey; Clintondale, Clintondale Market, Main street; Ellenville, Ellenville Reformed Church, May 2; Forest Glen, tea at the

Asks Voluntary Checkup

Albany, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—The state safety director wants motorists in New York state to take part in voluntary automobile inspection campaign. In launching the third annual safe car campaign, Thomas R. Ryan said yesterday: "Now, before the summer season really gets underway is the time to have your car checked. What often may appear to be minor defects can and do contribute to serious accidents." Ryan suggested that car inspections cover brakes, tires, steering and wheel alignment, windshield wipers, windows and windshield, rear view mirror, horn, exhaust system, muffler, and head, rear and stop lights.

Syracuse Students Have Water Fight

Syracuse, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—A free-for-all water fight, involving an estimated 1,000 men and women students, swirled over the Syracuse University campus last night.

Police, passersby and the students were liberally doused. After police broke up the melee, 35 students were in jail, and damages were assessed at $5,000.

One student was charged with disorderly conduct, and the others were held on open charges for investigation. They were due to appear in police court today.

Police Capt. Harold Kelly estimated the damage. He said most of it consisted of slashed tires, smashed radios and motors on police cars.

One policeman said the fight apparently began when some students tossed water from a dormitory window on passersby. Other students soon joined the affray.

As the battle spread, most of the patrol cars and motorcycles in the city converged on the campus in an effort to restore order. Two patrolmen suffered minor injuries.

Students staged a similar battle last year. It ended with the collegians apologizing to police and paying for damages.

TIME TO END BIG FOUR PARLEY

Nearly 40 times the representatives of the four major powers have met in Paris to seek agreement on what their respective foreign ministers should talk about if they should ever get together. Their progress would have to be measured with an electron microscope.

It has been the earnest conviction of U. S. officials for some time that the Russians do not want an agreement. Yet they have felt it wise to play out the string, to let the Russians go on talking as long as they wished.

But recent reports suggest that the time may be at hand to end this fruitless performance. The conferees have gone stale. They are no longer making new proposals but simply repeating the old. They seem intent now on merely placing blame for the failure to reach an accord.

If it is true that the Soviet Union does not wish an agreement, why then did they want the preliminary conference at all?

The most obvious answer—for propaganda purposes—hardly stands up this time. Of all the postwar meetings held among the major powers, this has gained the least publicity. Even if it had not been overshadowed by such events as the MacArthur crisis, U. S. crime investigations, and the like, it would have been relegated to inside news pages.

Analysis of Soviet statements at the agenda conference and elsewhere in Europe indicates strongly that the real objective is to delay or prevent Western Germany's rearmament.

There seems good reason to believe that the Russians regard the rearmament issue as crucial. Andrei Gromyko, Soviet delegate at Paris, has harped on it continually. Not long ago one of Russia's East German stooge Communists declared that the Reds would not countenance rearmament. It was a broad hint that rearmament might mean war. Months before, the Russians themselves had said they would not "tolerate" German rearmament.

The Reds are, of course, trying to frighten the Germans. But there may well be other angles. For all their present military monopoly east of the Elbe in Germany, the Russians probably cannot rid themselves of fears of a remilitarized Reich. Memories of the destructive Nazi invasion of World War II are still too fresh.

And a successful Western German rearmament would be a final, convincing proof to Moscow that the West means to make the free world a fortress against communism. Since Germany obviously is first in Russia's path to the west, a stiffly defended Germany would cancel out any Soviet hopes of easy conquest.

The Kremlin cannot be blamed for trying to prevent rearmament, whether it be genuinely afraid of an armed Reich or simply anxious to keep its route to the west free of heavy obstacles.

But there's no good reason why we and other western nations should help Russia by prolonging a conference that only spells delay and indecision. This Paris gathering is enervating to the firm resolve of the West to build a real European bulwark against the Soviet Union. Its failure should be formalized by the final gavel—soon.

THE HONEST MAJORITY

Most people are honest, law-abiding, conscientious and hard working. They want only what they earn, and wish to pay their own way in the world. They are willing to give time and effort to help others.

One of this large class of the unheralded and unsung is a disabled Virginia veteran, formerly a ditch-digger, who learned through the government training program to be a butcher. He has returned his last two government checks, and says he doesn't want any more. The veteran, who wanted his name withheld, told reporters: "There are enough of us sucking the country dry, and it's time we stopped sucking and started giving."

We read and hear every day of chiselers and criminals, but it is well to realize that we hear of them because it is the exceptional,

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

MARX ON RUSSIA

I read this in the British magazine "The Twentieth Century":

"On April 19, 1853, the London correspondent of the New York Tribune (now the Herald Tribune) had this to say about Russian expansion in Europe: '... Thanks to the ignorance, lethargy, in-consequence and cowardice of the occidental governments, Russia has in all essentials attained its aims, one after the other... since Peter the Great, the Russian frontier has advanced by seven hundred miles in the direction of Berlin, Dresden and Vienna; it has moved some five hundred miles closer to Constantinople, some six hundred and thirty miles closer to Stockholm, about a thousand miles closer to Teheran.'"

The writer of this quotation was none other than Karl Marx. He could not have known, in 1853, that his ideas would be seeded down in Russia in 1917 and that his principal disciples would regard that country as their motherland.

Earlier, Karl Marx had warned: '... (Under certain circumstances) it would turn out that Russia's natural frontier runs from Danzig or Stettin to Trieste. And as sure as one annexation follows another, the conquest of Turkey by Russia would only be the prelude to the annexation of Hungary, Prussia, Galicia, and to the realization of that Slav empire of which certain fanatical Pan-Slav philosophers are dreaming... once in possession of Turkey, Russia's power is increased by half and overtops that of all the rest of Europe combined. That would be an indescribable disaster... the maintenance of Turkish independence... should the Ottoman empire dissolve after all, are matters of the highest importance. In this the interests of revolutionary democracy and those of England coincide.'"

It is interesting to compare these statements with that of Dean Acheson dated February 23, 1951, to Mr. Clarence E. Moullette, in which he says:

"However, as it became clear that the rulers of the Soviet Union not only were not interested in cooperating with us, but were challenging the survival of our free institutions, and the independence of all nations, we have been obliged to build up our strength again, all of us."

Recently, in a conversation concerning Dean Acheson, I made the point that he lacks historical imagination, which is the essence of statesmanship. Such minds as Talleyrand and Disraeli could see ahead and yet they were restrained by profound knowledge of history.

Stalin, at Yalta, laid out a future for Europe and Asia beneficial to his country and his ideals of life with the broadest strokes. Roosevelt, Hopkins and Acheson could only deal with the matters in hand. As important as such matters have seemed to be, they had to be fitted into the framework of our own tradition and history. This they did not do and, therefore, brought upon us our present miseries.

For, to paraphrase Karl Marx's statement above: "Once in possession of China, Russia's power is tripled and overtops all the nations of the world combined."

Had the United States possessed one statesman in power in 1945, he would have appraised this situation clearly. There were many fine minds, out of power, who did, in 1945, appraise this situation correctly.

Dean Acheson is now virtually the president of the United States because foreign affairs prevail over every domestic question that faces the country. He develops the position in international relations and then every other question has to be made to conform to it.

For instance, we have practically fixed it as a policy to give Europe $5,000,000,000 a year. Since the end of World War II, we have been giving Europe that amount of money or credit. Although the British have given up Marshall Plan aid, they are to get military aid, which comes to the same thing. Therefore, our domestic budget has to include this amount, come what may.

Dr. General Eisenhower is set to Europe to assume responsibility on behalf of the United States, for the success of the North Atlantic Alliance. To implement that, we are asked to create a standing army of 3,500,000 Americans and to have a 1951-52 budget of about $100,000,000,000. If we agree to Mr. Acheson's foreign program, the economy of our people must be adjusted to the government taking taxes or bonds about one-third of the national product.

When a man possesses such power, his wisdom should be great; his sense of obligation national. Mr. Acheson is an advocate rather than a philosopher, and his affinities are British rather than American.

HEART DISEASE AND MANPOWER

In these days when manpower is so important to the country's wellbeing, it may be well for us to consider what diseases are a threat to it. It is because of what can be done to save our manpower and also the lives of many other men and women possessed of mental and physical ability that I am quoting from a pamphlet issued by American Heart Association, 1775 Broadway, New York 19. It is heart and blood vessel disease that is responsible for the loss from industry of so much manpower.

"The cardiovascular diseases (heart and blood vessels) are a major threat to industry's investment in trained manpower. Skills and experience at this time are more important than raw materials. They are all too frequently wiped out by heart and blood vessel diseases."

At least 10,000,000 persons have some form of heart and blood vessel disease in the United States today and the figures would be proportionately the same for Canada.

In 1948, diseases of heart and blood vessels were responsible for 44 per cent (nearly half) of all the deaths in the United States. They were responsible for one out of two deaths over the age of 45. These diseases killed five times more people than accidents, 11 times more than pneumonia and influenza, 14 times more than tuberculosis, 16 times more than diabetes.

While most of us, as we think of the loss to industry from heart and blood vessel diseases, have in mind skilled and unskilled labor, we must remember that heart disease is the major cause of disability and death among the executives in industry, the men and women who do the planning and the worrying in our various industries.

In order to learn the underlying causes of heart and blood vessel disease, the American Heart Association conducts its Heart Campaign each year and spends 25 per cent of its collected funds in research work. "Skilled investigators, among them biologists, chemists, pathologists, physiologists and statisticians, have been given funds to grapple with such problems as: blood clotting, coronary vessel flow, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, development of an artificial heart which may open the way to new developments in heart surgery which has already saved many young lives."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Before President Truman made his tough decision to fire General MacArthur, he asked General Matt Ridgway for a confidential opinion as to whether U.N. forces could hold against the expected big Communist offensive.

Truman took this precaution, first because it had been known for some time that the offensive was coming, second because he also knew what a catastrophic torrent of criticism would be heaped on his head if after relieving MacArthur, U.N. forces suffered a staggering defeat.

Gen. Ridgway cabled back that his forces could hold. He went further and stated that he could hold against any enemy attack for sixty days—even without reinforcements. The Pentagon, reporting this to the White House, said they had complete confidence in Ridgway, so Truman shot the works with MacArthur.

There are several important reasons for this confidence, all going to the tremendously improved fighting quality and command of American troops.

Last December a Chinese army only half as big as that facing us today, was thrown against the U.N. It was not one million men as MacArthur announced. Yet that relatively small Chinese force threw the 8th Army for a headlong retreat of more than 120 miles. Furthermore, the Chinese army of last December was poorly equipped with small arms and almost no heavy artillery.

Today, twice as many Chinese are attacking, equipped with twice the firepower of last December. Meanwhile U.N. forces are only slightly bigger than as of last December.

Chief change between now and then, however, is in American fighting spirit and strategy, for which Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway deserves most of the credit. Here is what he has done:

1. Previously, the mechanized American forces were roadbound and easily outflanked by the Chinese, who swarmed through the backwoods and rice paddies, usually keeping off the main highways. Ridgway has now moved his infantry off the roads, and trained them to fight on the Communists' own ground. Instead of relying on trucks and jeeps, Ridgway has hired South Korean bearers to haul supplies to G.I.s who are dug in off the highways. Ridgway also has used guerrilla-trained American rangers to harass the enemy behind their lines.

2. Ridgway has moved cautiously, and patrolled every step of the way, instead of racing ahead pell-mell, as Lt. Gen. Edward Almond and the late Gen. Walton Walker did last November to see whose troops could reach the Yalu river first. Ridgway also keeps tight liaison between his front-line commands, in contrast with the Eighth Army and Tenth Corps last November which were forced to keep in touch with each other through Tokyo, a thousand miles away.

3. Ridgway has reorganized his command down to the company level. This got rid of incompetent officers and gave the men new confidence in their commanders.

4. Ridgway has also bolstered the South Korean troops, who fight ferociously against North Koreans but flee in panic from the Chinese. Ridgway gave the South Koreans a taste of victory over the Chinese by integrating South Korean and American units and throwing them into battle side by side. Ridgway also assigned South Korean soldiers to count the Chinese dead. This has helped, but not overcome the South Koreans' psychological fear of the Chinese.

Believe It or Not!

Jonathan Trumbull (1710-1785) of Lebanon, Conn., served as judge of the County Court of Windham (1746-1766), as judge of the Probate Court of the district (1747-1767), and Chief Justice of the Superior Court of the Colony (1766-1767), although he had never studied law in his life. Upon the outbreak of the American Revolution he was the only royal governor among 13, who was elected by the people instead of being appointed by England's king and the only governor who sided with the Revolution against George III. Until 1812 he had the honor of his name being used as a generic name for the United States, just as the term Uncle Sam is used today. Because George Washington often consulted with "Brother Jonathan" on important matters, the name began to symbolize the United States.

Secrecy, Suppression, Blunders Can't Exist If Publicity Highlights Governmental Operations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 1—Secrecy and suppression are the refuge of the incompetent and the blunders in government. Publicity, with everything put on the table, is the enemy of scandal and abuse of power.

These principles apply equally to military and civilian affairs.

The debate over the removal of General MacArthur is, therefore, a serious error which can only increase the distrust that the American people feel now about the administration and the Democratic party, which is in control of the government.

It is a curious thing that the Democrats voted solidly for secrecy and the Republicans voted for open sessions of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The only excuse for closed sessions which has a semblance of logic is the claim that there are secret directives of a military nature, the texts of which ought not to be revealed for security reasons.

The principal security reason, of course, is the security of the Democratic administration. It is doubtful if there is a single document now in the records really needed for the hearings which could give military aid to the enemy if made public.

The habit of recent years in Washington is to put the "top secret" or "classified information" label on anything or everything that might cause a bureaucratic annoyance or put him on the defensive.

The ends of a legitimate safeguard of secret information can be served by paraphrasing the documents so that the enemy will not be able to decode anything they may have picked up heretofore of our secret messages. Once this paraphrasing is done—and it is being done nearly every week in some form with respect to diplomatic exchanges—there is no real danger in the publication of the information.

But in the event that a document emerges or is referred to in the open hearings which could be the source of military information, all the presiding officer at the hearings has to do is close the hearings for an interval at that point until the document is examined in secret, whereupon the open hearings could be resumed.

Another Republican, also from Ohio, Rep. John Vorys, took just the contrary view. He personally appeared before the Rules Committee group to urge that the Indian aid measure be reported to the House floor, where members could vote for or against. Herbert Hoover also went on record with a strong endorsement of the bill.

But Congressman Brown argued: "This is another idea of Dean Acheson and the State Department crowd to scatter our assets to the four winds."

"If what you say is true, then Acheson is taking his cue from a great humanitarian in your own party," shot back Democratic Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana. Madden then read Herbert Hoover's plea to aid India as a "human necessity."

"You've never been a friend of Herbert Hoover," bristled Congressman Brown.

"Well, I'm going along with him on this," retorted Madden.

Acting chairman Gen. Cox, Georgia Democrat, who had been quietly abetting Brown's blockade of the India aid bill, also changed his tune; but for a different reason. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas sent word to the rules committee that he wanted no more stalling on food-for-India.

Note—Both the Senate and House are now set for a final vote on the wheat-for-India bill. The House bill provides for a loan of $190,000,000, while the Senate bill provides for $200,000,000 of food, of which half is a loan, half an outright gift. Herbert Hoover proposed that all the food be in the form of a gift.

Army Reserves Protest
 Army and Air Force reserve officers have registered plain-spoken protests with General "Lightning Joe" Collins, the army chief of staff, and the House Armed Services Committee about the shoddy treatment of reserves.

"The morale of a large percentage of reserve officers on active duty is at an all-time low," protested Colonel C. M. Boyer of the Reserve Officers' Association. "The system breeds a group of 'yes men' rather than officers who can think and act independently."

The grines are threefold: While regular officers are serving a grade or two above their permanent rank, the reserves are put below their permanent reserve status.

Some army and air force reservists have been sweating out training to qualify them for a reserve promotion, only to find that they are back in uniform.

Promotions of reserves are based on paper records. If the army wants to promote 15 majors to lieutenant colonels, 45 records are pulled out and the top third on paper elevated. The others are marked as "passed over."

"It's like the fellow who ordered rabbit hash," commented Col. Boyer. "He found it was mostly horse meat and asked the cook why he dared call it rabbit hash. The cook answered, 'well, it's 50-50, one rabbit and one horse.' This policy is one horse, 100."

Tungsten, a metal used in electric lamp filaments, has a melting point of 6060 degrees Fahrenheit, highest of all metals.

May 1, 1931—The Y.M.C.A. held its annual fathers' and sons' banquet.

Mayor E. J. Dempsey reappointed Louis Beeres and D. N. Mathews to the education board.

Patrick L. Rinaldo, of Gage street, was fatally injured when the car he was driving was struck by a West Shore train at the Gage street crossing.

Jacob J. Camp, of Smith avenue, died.

Patrick J. Tucker died at his Port Ewen home.

The procedure decided upon by the Democratic majority in the Senate Armed Services Committee will be to hold secret hearings and then allow a transcript to be edited and the edited version will be issued to the public.

The newspapermen will have to buy the transcript from stenographers—paying about 40 cents for 150 or 200 words of testimony. The press will have no opportunity to observe the demeanor of witnesses. The delay between the time the testimony is given and the time the transcript will be available for publication may be hours, if not days. Meanwhile, the reporters will ask both the witnesses and the members of the committee what happened, and will get paraphrases and condensed versions which may or may not be influenced by the prejudice of the senators who give out the information.

The press does not as a rule reproduce an exact copy of what has previously been paraphrased in the first dispatches. The end result is that a hearing of profound importance to the safety of the American people, involving past actions and the evolution of our foreign policy as well as our military policy, will get to the public for the most part in fragmentary and confusing form.

General MacArthur himself declined to specify how he wished the hearings to be held—whether they should be open or closed. He took the position that he, as a witness, really should not express an opinion and that is should be left to the committee to decide.

This was a wise approach because the committee intended to vote for closed sessions anyway. The pressure from the Pentagon is to keep as much as possible from the public which would show that the military men concur even in part with General MacArthur. There is such fear in the Pentagon of getting in bad with the civilian or political side of the government that officers prefer not even to discuss the MacArthur affair.

So it all boils down to the fact that, while America is suffering casualties in Korea due to a policy of limitation which General MacArthur has questioned, the American people are not going to get the truth, not even as to why the civilian authority in government has substituted its own opinions for the judgment of competent military men in the field.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 30—Old School Baptists of the Olive and Hurley Church met here Sunday for their first preaching service in the 94-year-old meetinghouse since last fall.

Elder Amasa Slauson of Kingston was the officiating clergyman.

Elsie Young, New Paltz Teachers College graduate in 1951, and Jules Viglielmo, Union College, '49, have been engaged to teach in the Ontario central school system the coming year.

Mrs. S. Early of New York was a caller in the village Sunday for the first time in 25 years. The former Sadie Morgan was a friend of the James Allen family who lived at the junction of the mountain road with the old state road.

Mrs. Bautista Nadal, local property holder, is making her home with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Santi Nadal, at Bryn Athyn, Pa.

Ashekan Reservoir water has cleared up considerably the past few days. That chocolate color may have been due to the influence of Gilboa clay though it looked to old timers much like the stuff that used to come rampaging down the upper Esopus Creek in days before the waterworks. Overflow at the Schoharie reservoir in the March 30 flood was 4 1/2 feet deep, highest on record since the dam was built 20 years ago.

Sunday callers in the village center included Stanley Shaw, Kingston War I veteran and grocer, and native of Shokan. Stanley was on his way to Olive Bridge to get a fishing license before having a try for the brook trout later in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, up from the city for a week-end at their Shokan place, were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. David Greenspan and small daughter, Susan, also of Washington Heights.

Other summer people here over Sunday included Mrs. John Valand and daughter, Jean, who started work in their garden while in town.

The Tannasee Hotel at Fleischmanns has been sold at a reported price of $190,000 to three N. Y. men who have operated the Pine Hill Country Club for the past five years. The resort, one of the largest in the mountains, has been owned and operated four seasons by Max Sack and Louis Kellman.

Fellow who has been taking spring photographs of Ontario district schools opined the "neat and cleanest" was at Brown's Station.

Questions—Answers
 Q—Do any states forbid the establishment of self-service gasoline stations?
 A—About 200 self-service gasoline stations for motorists are in operation in the United States; they are forbidden by law or legal ruling in at least 14 states.

Q—What rank was given to Ulysses S. Grant when he took command of the Union Army?
 A—Selected from a horde of major generals, Grant became the third American lieutenant general in history. It took a special act of Congress to revive the rank.

Q—Between what cities did the first telegraph line extend?
 A—From Washington to Baltimore, later extended to New York by private funds. Congress in 1843 appropriated money to build the first telegraph line in the world.

Q—How many notes does it take to make a tune?
 A—Any combination of two notes is enough for a whistle or a bird call—and it may, as in the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, be the basis of an entire melody.

May 1, 1941—The Kingston Y.M.C.A. drive to raise $12,528 was reported at the half-way mark.

Kingston merchants planned to decorate their stores in observance of the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival over the week-end of May 10.

Mayor C. J. Heislman issued a proclamation in observance of National Music Week.

Area apple blossoms were reported blooming in advance of the festival date.

TIME TO END BIG FOUR PARLEY

Nearly 40 times the representatives of the four major powers have met in Paris to seek agreement on what their respective foreign ministers should talk about if they should ever get together. Their progress would have to be measured with an electron microscope.

It has been the earnest conviction of U. S. officials for some time that the Russians do not want an agreement. Yet they have felt it wise to play out the string, to let the Russians go on talking as long as they wished.

But recent reports suggest that the time may be at hand to end this fruitless performance. The conferees have gone stale. They are no longer making new proposals but simply repeating the old. They seem intent now on merely placing blame for the failure to reach an accord.

If it is true that the Soviet Union does not wish an agreement, why then did they want the preliminary conference at all?

The most obvious answer—for propaganda purposes—hardly stands up this far. Of all the postwar meetings held among the major powers, this has gained the least publicity. Even if it had not been overshadowed by such events as the MacArthur crisis, U. S. crime investigations, and the like, it would have been relegated to inside news pages.

Analysis of Soviet statements at the agenda conference and elsewhere in Europe indicates strongly that the real objective is to delay or prevent Western Germany's rearmament.

There seems good reason to believe that the Russians regard the rearmament issue as crucial. Andrei Gromyko, Soviet delegate at Paris, has harped on it continually. Not long ago one of Russia's East German stooge Communists declared that the Reds would not countenance rearmament. It was a broad hint that rearmament might mean war. Months before, the Russians themselves had said they would not "tolerate" German rearmament.

The Reds are, of course, trying to frighten the Germans. But there may well be other angles. For all their present military monopoly east of the Elbe in Germany, the Russians probably cannot rid themselves of fears of a remilitarized Reich. Memories of the destructive Nazi invasion of World War II are still too fresh.

And a successful Western German rearmament would be a final, convincing proof to Moscow that the West means to make the free world a fortress against communism. Since Germany obviously is first in Russia's path to the west, a stiffly defended Germany would cancel out any Soviet hopes of easy conquest.

The Kremlin cannot be blamed for trying to prevent rearmament, whether it be genuinely afraid of an armed Reich or simply anxious to keep its route to the west free of heavy obstacles.

But there's no good reason why we and other western nations should help Russia by prolonging a conference that only spells delay and indecision. This Paris gathering is enervating to the firm resolve of the West to build a real European bulwark against the Soviet Union. Its failure should be formalized by the final gavel—soon.

THE HONEST MAJORITY

Most people are honest, law-abiding, conscientious and hard working. They want only what they earn, and wish to pay their own way in the world. They are willing to give time and effort to help others.

One of this large class of the unheralded and unsung is a disabled Virginia veteran, formerly a ditch-digger, who learned through the government training program to be a butcher. He has returned his last two government checks, and says he doesn't want any more. The veteran, who wanted his name withheld, told reporters: "There are enough of us sucking the country dry, and it's time we stopped sucking and started giving."

We read and hear every day of chiselers and criminals, but it is well to realize that we hear of them because it is the exceptional,

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

MARK ON RUSSIA

I read this in the British magazine "The Twentieth Century":

"On April 19, 1853, the London correspondent of the New York Tribune (now the Herald Tribune) had this to say about Russian expansion in Europe: "... Thanks to the ignorance, lethargy, in consequence and cowardice of the occidental governments, Russia has in all essentials attained its aims, one after the other... since Peter the Great, the Russian frontier has advanced by seven hundred miles in the direction of Berlin, Dresden and Vienna; it has moved some five hundred miles closer to Constantinople, some six hundred and thirty miles closer to Stockholm, about a thousand miles closer to Tehran."

The writer of this quotation was none other than Karl Marx. He could not have known, in 1853, that his ideas would be seeded down in Russia in 1917 and that his principal disciples would regard that country as their motherland.

Earlier, Karl Marx had warned: "... (Under certain circumstances) it would turn out that Russia's natural frontier runs from Danzig to Stettin to Trieste. And as sure as one annexation follows another, the conquest of Turkey by Russia would only be the prelude to the annexation of Hungary, Prussia, Galicia, and to the realization of that Slav empire of which certain fanatical Pan-Slav philosophers are dreaming... once in possession of Turkey, Russia's power is increased by half and overtops that of all the rest of Europe combined. That would be an indescribable disaster... the maintenance of Turkish independence, and the prevention of Russia's plans of annexation should the Ottoman empire dissolve after all, are matters of the highest importance. In this the interests of revolutionary democracy and those of England coincide."

It is interesting to compare these statements with that of Dean Acheson dated February 23, 1951, to Mr. Clarence E. Moullette, in which he says:

"However, as it became clear that the rulers of the Soviet Union not only were not interested in cooperating with us, but were challenging the survival of our free institutions, and the independence of all nations, we have been obliged to build up our strength again, all of us."

Recently, in a conversation concerning Dean Acheson, I made the point that he lacks historical imagination, which is the essence of statesmanship. Such minds as Talleyrand and Disraeli could see ahead and yet they were restrained by profound knowledge of history.

Stalin, at Yalta, laid out a future for Europe and Asia beneficial to his country and his ideals of life, with the broadest strokes. Roosevelt, Hopkins and Hiss could only deal with the matters in hand. As important as such matters have seemed to be, they had to be fitted into the framework of our own tradition and history. This they did not do and, therefore, brought upon us our present miseries.

For, to paraphrase Karl Marx's statement above: Once in possession of China, Russia's power is tripled and overtops all the nations of the world combined.

Had the United States possessed one statesman in power in 1945, he would have appraised this situation clearly. There were many fine minds, out of power, who did, in 1945, appraise this situation correctly.

Dean Acheson is now virtually the president of the United States because foreign affairs prevail over every domestic question that faces the country. He develops the position in international relations, and then every other question has to be made to conform to it.

For instance, we have practically fixed it as a policy to give Europe $5,000,000,000 a year. Since the end of World War II, we have been giving Europe that amount of money or credit. Although the British have given up Marshall Plan aid, they are to get military aid, which comes to the same thing. Therefore, our domestic budget has to include this amount, come what may.

Or, General Eisenhower is sent to Europe to assume responsibility, on behalf of the United States, for the success of the North Atlantic Alliance. To implement that, we are asked to create a standing army of 3,500,000 Americans and to have a 1951-52 budget of about $100,000,000,000. If we agree to Mr. Acheson's foreign program, the economy of our people must be adjusted to the government taking in taxes or bonds about one-third of the national product.

When a man possesses such power, his wisdom should be great; his sense of obligation national. Mr. Acheson is an advocate rather than a philosopher, and his affiliations are British rather than American.

HEART DISEASE AND MANPOWER

In these days when manpower is so important to the country's wellbeing, it may be well for us to consider what diseases are a threat to it. It is because of what can be done to save our manpower and also the lives of many other men and women possessed of mental and physical ability that I am quoting from a pamphlet issued by American Heart Association, 1775 Broadway, New York 19. It is heart and blood vessel disease that is responsible for the loss from industry of so much manpower. "The cardiovascular diseases (heart and blood vessels) are a major threat to industry's investment in trained manpower. Skills and experience at this time are more important than raw materials. They are all too frequently wiped out by heart and blood vessel diseases."

At least 10,000,000 persons have some form of heart and blood vessel disease in the United States today and the figures would be proportionately the same for Canada.

In 1948, diseases of heart and blood vessels were responsible for 44 per cent (nearly half) of all the deaths in the United States. They were responsible for one out of two deaths over the age of 45. These diseases killed five times more people than accidents, 11 times more than pneumonia and influenza, 14 times more than tuberculosis, 16 times more than diabetes.

While most of us, as we think of the loss to industry from heart and blood vessel diseases, have in mind skilled and unskilled labor, we must remember that heart disease is the major cause of disability and death among the executives in industry, the men and women who do the planning and the working in our various industries.

In order to learn the underlying causes of heart and blood vessel disease, the American Heart Association conducts its Heart Campaign each year and spends 25 per cent of its collected funds in research work. "Skilled investigators, among them biologists, chemists, pathologists, physicians and statisticians, have been given funds to grapple with such problems as: blood clotting, coronary vessel flow, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, development of an artificial heart which may open the way to new developments in heart surgery which has already saved many young lives."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Before President Truman made his tough decision to fire General MacArthur, he asked General Matt Ridgway for a confidential opinion as to whether U.N. forces could hold against the expected big Communist offensive.

Truman took this precaution, first because it had been known for some time that the offensive was coming, second because he also knew what a catastrophic torrent of criticism would be heaped on his head if after relieving MacArthur, U.N. forces suffered a staggering defeat.

Gen. Ridgway cabled back that his forces could hold. He went further and stated that he could hold against any enemy attack for sixty days—even without reinforcements. The Pentagon, reporting this to the White House, said they had complete confidence in Ridgway, so Truman shot the works with MacArthur.

There are several important reasons for this confidence, all going to the tremendously improved fighting quality and command of American troops.

Last December a Chinese army only half as big as that facing us today, was thrown against the U.N. It was not one million men as MacArthur announced. Yet that relatively small Chinese force threw the 8th Army for a headlong retreat of more than 120 miles. Furthermore the Chinese army of last December was poorly equipped with small arms and almost no heavy artillery.

Today, twice as many Chinese are attacking, equipped with twice the firepower of last December. Meanwhile U.N. forces are only slightly bigger than as of last December.

Chief change between now and then, however, is in American fighting spirit and strategy, for which Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway deserves most of the credit. Here is what he has done:

American Guerrillas

1. Previously, the mechanized American forces were roadbound and easily outflanked by the Chinese, who swarmed through the backwoods and rice paddies, usually keeping off the main highways. Ridgway has now moved his infantry off the roads, and trained them to fight on the Communists' own ground. Instead of relying on trucks and jeeps, Ridgway has hired South Korean bearers to haul supplies to G.I.s who are dug in off the highways. Ridgway also has used guerrilla-trained American rangers to harass the enemy behind their lines.

2. Ridgway has moved cautiously, and patrolled every step of the way, instead of racing ahead pell-mell, as Lt. Gen. Edward Almond and the late Gen. Walton Walker did last November to see whose troops could reach the Yalu river first. Ridgway also keeps tight liaison between his front-line commands, in contrast with the Eighth Army and Tenth Corps last November which were forced to keep in touch with each other through Tokyo, a thousand miles away.

3. Ridgway has reorganized his command down to the company level. This got rid of incompetent officers and gave the men new confidence in their commanders.

4. Ridgway has also bolstered the South Korean troops, who fight ferociously against North Koreans but flee in panic from the Chinese. Ridgway gave the South Koreans a taste of victory over the Chinese by integrating South Korean and American units and throwing them into battle side by side. Ridgway also assigned South Korean soldiers to count the Chinese dead. This has helped, but not overcome the South Koreans' psychological fear of the Chinese.

Congressional Procrastination

Hours even minutes—are vital to a starving person. Yet Congress dawdled months before agreeing to consider legislation to feed the hungry mouths of India.

Behind this inaction is another story of how the American people rise to the occasion when their Senators and Representatives fail to act.

It was a growing floodtide of gifts to the Indian embassy, from people in all parts of the United States that caused isolationists in Congress finally to consent to a vote on the food-for-India bill.

However, the isolationist bloc, led by GOP Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, put up a vigorous battle before the legislation was finally jarred loose from its dusty pigeonhole in the House Rules Committee.

Another Republican, also from Ohio, Rep. John Vorys, took just the contrary view. He personally appeared before the Rules Committee group to urge that the Indian aid measure be reported to the House floor, where members could vote for or against. Herbert Hoover also went on record with a strong endorsement of the bill.

But Congressman Brown argued: "This is another idea of Dean Acheson and the State Department crowd to scatter our assets to the four winds."

"If what you say is true, then Acheson is taking his cue from a great humanitarian in your own party," shot back Democratic Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana. Madden then read Herbert Hoover's plea to aid India as a "human necessity."

"You've never been a friend of Herbert Hoover," bristled Congressman Brown.

"Well, I'm going along with him on this," retorted Madden. Acting chairman Gene Cox, Georgia Democrat, who had been quietly abetting Brown's blockade of the India aid bill, also changed his tune; but for a different reason. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas sent word to the rules committee that he wanted no more stalling on food-for-India.

Note—Both the Senate and House are now set for a final vote on the wheat-for-India bill. The House bill provides for a loan of $190,000,000, while the Senate bill provides for $200,000,000 of food, of which half is a loan, half an outright gift. Herbert Hoover proposed that all the food be in the form of a gift.

Army Reserves Protest
 Army and Air Force reserve officers have registered plain-shirted protests with General "Lightning" Joe Collins, the army chief of staff, and the House Armed Services Committee about the shoddy treatment of reserves.

"The morale of a large percentage of reserve officers on active duty is at an all-time low," protested Colonel C. M. Boyer of the Reserve Officers Association. "The system breeds a group of 'yes men' rather than officers who can think and act independently."

The grines are threefold: While regular officers are serving a grade or two above their permanent rank, the reserves are put below their permanent reserve status.

Some army and air force reservists after sweating out training to qualify them for a reserve promotion, must requalify, now that they are back in uniform.

Promotions of reserves are based on paper records. If the army wants to promote 15 majors to lieutenant colonels, 45 records are pulled out and the top third on paper elevated. The others are marked as "passed over."

"It's like the fellow who ordered rabbit hash," commented Col. Boyer. "He found it was most likely horse meat and asked the cook why he dared call it rabbit hash. The cook answered, 'well, it's 50-50, one rabbit and one horse.' This policy is one horse, too."

Secrecy, Suppression, Blunders Can't Exist if Publicity Highlights Governmental Operations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 1—Secrecy and suppression are the refuge of the incompetent and the blunders in government. Publicity, with everything put on the table, is the enemy of scandal and abuse of power.

These principles apply equally to military and civilian affairs.

The Kefauver hearings proved the point conclusively. The decision to carry on in secret the investigation touched off by the President's arbitrary removal of General MacArthur is, therefore, a serious error which can only increase the distrust that the American people feel now about the administration and the Democratic party, which is in control of the government.

It is a curious thing that the Democrats voted solidly for secrecy and the Republicans voted for open sessions of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The only excuse for closed sessions which has been paraphrased in the first dispatches. The end result is that a hearing of profound importance to the safety of the American people, involving past actions and the evolution of our foreign policy as well as our military policy, will get to the public for the most part in fragmentary and confusing form.

General MacArthur himself declined to specify how he wished the hearings to be held—whether they should be open or closed. He took the position that he, as a witness, really should not express an opinion and that is should be left to the committee to decide. This was a wise approach because the committee intended to vote for closed sessions anyway. The pressure from the Pentagon is to keep as much as possible from the public which would show that the military men concur even in part with the committee's policy. There is such fear in the Pentagon of getting in bad with the civilian or political side of the government that officers prefer not even to discuss the MacArthur affair.

So it all boils down to the fact that, while America is suffering casualties in Korea due to a policy of limitation which General MacArthur has questioned, the American people are not going to get the full story of the reasons why the civilian authority in government has substituted its own opinions for the judgment of competent military men in the field. SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 30—Old School Baptists of the Olive and Hurley Church met here Sunday for their first preaching service in the 94-year-old meetinghouse since last fall. Elder Amasa Slauson of Kingston was the officiating clergyman.

Elsie Young, New Paltz Teachers College graduate in 1951, and Jules Viglielmo, Union College, '49, have been engaged to teach in the Ontario central school system the coming year.

Mrs. S. Early of New York was a caller in the village Sunday for the first time in 25 years. The former Sadie Morgan was a friend of the James Allen family who lived at the junction of the mountain road with the old state road.

Mrs. Baptista Nadal, local property holder, is making her home with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Santi Nadal, at Bryn Athyn, Pa.

Ashokan Reservoir water has cleared up considerably the past few days. That chocolate color may have been due to the influence of Gilboa clay though it looked to old timers much like the stuff that used to come rampaging down the upper Esopus Creek in days before the waterworks. Overflow at the Schoharie reservoir in the March 30 flood was 4 1/2 feet deep, highest on record since the dam was built 20 years ago.

Sunday callers in the village center included Stanley Shaw, Kingston War 1 veteran and grocer, and native of Shokan. Stanley was on his way to Olive Bridge to get a fishing license before having a try for the brook trout later in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, up from the city for a week-end at their Shokan place, were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. David Greenspan and small daughter, Susan, also of Washington Heights.

Other summer people here over Sunday included Mrs. John Valand and daughter, Jean, who started work on their garden which is in town.

The Takanassee Hotel at Fleischmanns has been sold at a reported price of $190,000 to three N. Y. men who have operated the Pine Hill Country Club for the past five years. The resort, one of the largest in the mountains, has been owned and operated for seasons by Max Sacks and Louis Kellman.

Fellow who has been taking spring photographs of Ontario district schools opined the "neatest and cleanest" was at Brown's Station.

Questions—Answers
 Q—Do any states forbid the establishment of self-service gasoline stations?
 A—About 200 self-service gasoline stations for motorists are in operation in the United States; they are forbidden by law or legal ruling in at least 14 states.

Q—What rank was given to Ulysses S. Grant when he took command of the Union Army?
 A—Selected from a horde of major generals, Grant became the third American lieutenant general in history. It took a special act of Congress to revive the rank.

Q—Between what cities did the first telegraph line extend?
 A—From Washington to Baltimore, later extended to New York by private funds. Congress in 1843 appropriated money to build the first telegraph line in the world.

Q—How many notes does it take to make a tune?
 A—Any combination of two notes is enough for a whistle or a bird call—and it may be as in the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, be the basis of an entire melody.

Brehm Convicted On Five Counts

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Republican Rep. Walter E. Brehm of Ohio, a five-term member of Congress, was convicted last night of receiving $1,000 in unlawful political contributions.

After deliberating four hours and 18 minutes, a federal court jury of 10 men and two women found the 58-year-old Ohioan guilty on five counts, involving as many $200 contributions from Mrs. Emma S. Craven while she worked for him in 1948.

The maximum sentence that could be imposed is 15 years in prison and a $25,000 fine. But maximum penalties seldom are imposed in convictions on several counts.

Brehm was convicted of breaking a law that forbids congressmen to accept political gifts from persons on the federal payroll.

Brehm's lawyer, Leo A. Rover, told reporters he will ask for a new trial. Failing that, he said, he will appeal the case to higher courts.

The tall, heavy-set congressman was pale, but showed no emotion when jury foreman B. Richard Breslar, a restaurant operator, announced the verdict in an almost-empty courtroom. Brehm stood facing the jury, both hands jammed deep in the pockets of his double-breasted suit coat.

The jury acquitted Brehm on one count which alleged he received a $140 campaign contribution in early 1948 from Mrs. Clara Soliday, a 74-year-old widow who worked for him for three years until January of that year.

Last week, Judge Burnita S. Matthews threw out still another count which accused Brehm of taking a $240 political donation from Mrs. Soliday in December 1947. Judge Matthews found that the alleged contribution occurred too long a time before the indictment was returned.

Judge Matthews did not announce when Brehm will be sentenced. In most cases, sentence is not imposed until the motion for a new trial is ruled on.

She permitted Brehm to remain free in the $1,000 bond he posted after his indictment in December.

Probers Report

measures to eliminate racketeers from the liquor and transportation industries and bigger staffs for federal law enforcement agencies, especially the Narcotics Bureau.

The committee also recommended creation of a federal crime commission, with Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) dissenting. He said he feared it might lead to creation of a national police force. The committee said this was the only part of the report on which the five members were not unanimous.

Suggestions Advanced
A number of suggestions also were advanced for action by state and local governments to break up underworld operations. Although the committee said the federal government can help, it stressed that crime "must be attacked primarily at the local level."

The committee said "the most shocking revelations" of its nationwide probe, authorized by the Senate almost exactly a year ago, were "the extent of official corruption and connivance in facilitating and promoting organized crime."

The senators said they found this corruption and connivance at all levels of government—federal, state and local.

One of their major conclusions was this:

"Despite known arrest records and well-documented criminal reputations, the leading hoodlums in the country remain, for the most part, immune from prosecution and punishment, although their dealings of their gangs may on occasion be prosecuted and punished."

"This quasi-immunity of top-level mobsters can be ascribed to what is popularly known as the 'fix.'"

Various Types of 'Fix'
The committee said that although it had run across considerable evidence of bribery, the fix is not always the direct payment of money to law-enforcement officials.

"The fix may also come about," the senators said, "through the acquisition of political power by contribution to political organizations or otherwise, by creating economic ties with apparently respectable and reputable businessmen and lawyers, and by buying public good will through charitable contributions and press relations."

The committee said bluntly in one of its conclusions that "widespread gambling operations and racketeering conditions are supported by out-and-out corruption in many places."

It added that these flagrant violations can "easily be cleaned up by vigorous law enforcement." The committee cited Saratoga, N. Y., as an outstanding example of this, saying it "ran wide-open through the racing season of 1949 but was closed down tight in 1950."

'Firmly Entrenched'
The senators found interstate criminal gangs to be "firmly entrenched" in the nation's largest cities. As it had in an earlier report, it named two major crime syndicates as the Accardo-Guzik-Fischetti mob in Chicago and the Costello-Adonis-Lansky outfit based in New York.

These two syndicates, as well as lesser ones, the committee said, are bound together by the shadowy Mafia, a secret underworld society that had its origins in Sicily.

The report described the Mafia as "a loose-knit organization specializing in the sale and distribution of narcotics, the conduct of various gambling enterprises, prostitution, and other rackets based on extortion and violence."

Grand Jury Might

er any of the persons listed were their relatives, friends or acquaintances.

Asks Public Come Forth
After the session in the picturesque brick county courthouse, Minton urged that anyone with information about illegal gambling in the county communicate with the investigators.

Before recessing the court session, Justice Leo J. Hagerty warned that the six jurors might "be approached" in an effort to influence them.

He urged them to report to him immediately "if convinced you have been approached in an effort to influence you" during the recesses.

The chief difficulty in empaneling a jury is that many veniremen are acquainted with various public officials of the county or its sub-divisions.

Complained of Pains
Capt. John R. Weisser, surgeon at the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, said Stanley had acute back and abdominal pains which have not been fully diagnosed. He was removed to the hospital upon the advice of a civilian physician summoned after the 450-mile trip from Ft. Leonard Wood.

Doctors at the Naval Hospital said the soldier was "not in any condition to be moved when we received him." They added they

Report Is Sought

it was prepared under Bradley's direction.

Russell said no question was raised at the committee's closed meeting as to whether a wire recorder or some similar device might have been used at the conference. Republicans said they will ask about that.

He 'Might Have'
Queried last week as to how the Wake report could be documented, President Truman said he might have done it himself. He might have, he emphasized.

A Republican member of the inquiry committee told a reporter MacArthur will be asked to compare his version of the conference with the administration's report.

As soon as he gets the authorship cleared up, Russell said he will make public the document. The Georgia senator hoped to make available today long-secret Korean portions of a 1947 report by Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemeyer.

Wedemeyer made a special mission to China and Korea in the summer of 1947. His entire report was kept secret until July, 1949, when portions of it were published in a State Department "White Paper" on relations with China. But the department said then it deleted "all reference to Korea" as irrelevant to this paper.

Some Senators apparently believe Wedemeyer warned four years ago of the dangers of withdrawal of American occupation troops from Korea and, in effect, predicted the north Korean attack which came last June.

In an evident reference to the Wedemeyer report, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) told the Senate yesterday that "if some of the documents which have been suppressed for four years had been made available to the people and to Congress, we would not have risked 60,000 casualties in Korea."

Reds Close Gates

keep them out of Seoul. And he did.

One Red mortar company reached the north bank of the Han roughly 15 miles east of Seoul and began firing on the south bank.

But even the Red radio at Pyongyang made no claims that the Chinese got closer than five miles to Seoul, now bristling with American artillery.

One Marine officer, Lt. Col. Webb D. Sawyer of Alexandria, Va., said the fighting in checking the breakthrough by 140,000 Chinese was worse than anything the Marines saw in northeast Korea last winter.

One marine said their machine gunners killed Reds at the rate of 20 a minute but the Reds charged at the rate of 25 a minute.

State Police Corporal Ray Dunn of Phenicia was notified and a warrant was sworn out by Burdick charging Harvey J. Davis, 63, of 106 O'Neil street, Kingston, with reckless driving. Davis was picked up an hour and a half later at Wittenberg by Corporal Dunn and taken before Justice George Braendley of the town of Woodstock. Davis paid $25 fine for reckless driving.

Pine Hill Man Arrested

Lyman Peck of Pine Hill was arrested by State Police Corporal Ray Dunn on a charge of public intoxication. Residents reported Peck was seen bleeding profusely about the hand. It was found Peck had been cut while attempting to open a beer bottle. He will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ray Smith later.

doubted the family's well-meaning efforts in bringing the soldier 450 miles in a car had done him any good.

Meanwhile, in Kansas City, Mrs. Harry W. Pettitt, in an interview with the Kansas City Star said her son was smuggled from Ft. Leonard Wood by his soldier buddies so he could get medical treatment.

Mrs. Pettitt said her son, Pvt. William Pettitt, 23, was so ill he could not walk when three buddies carried him from his barracks bunk and brought him to his home in Kansas City last Dec. 2. "Pettitt was removed to Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., Mrs. Pettitt said, and received good treatment. On Jan. 3 he was transferred to the Army and Navy General Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., where his condition has improved. But he weighed only 118 pounds, compared to 160 pounds when he entered the army last Oct. 15. Mrs. Pettitt said she has not learned the nature of her son's illness.

An army spokesman at Ft. Leonard Wood said Pettitt's case was to be investigated.

Measles Epidemic Starts in County

Measles has again made its appearance in Ulster county starting in the southernmost section and gradually working northward. The disease has been prevalent in the Wallkill area, New Paltz, Highland, and is now making its appearance in Kingston and the surrounding area.

The first signs of measles are those of the common cold, running nose, watery eyes, moderate fever, with possibly associated hacking cough. These symptoms persist for three or four days prior to the appearance of the rash which is dusky red and blotchy in nature. It is during the early stage of the disease that it is most contagious.

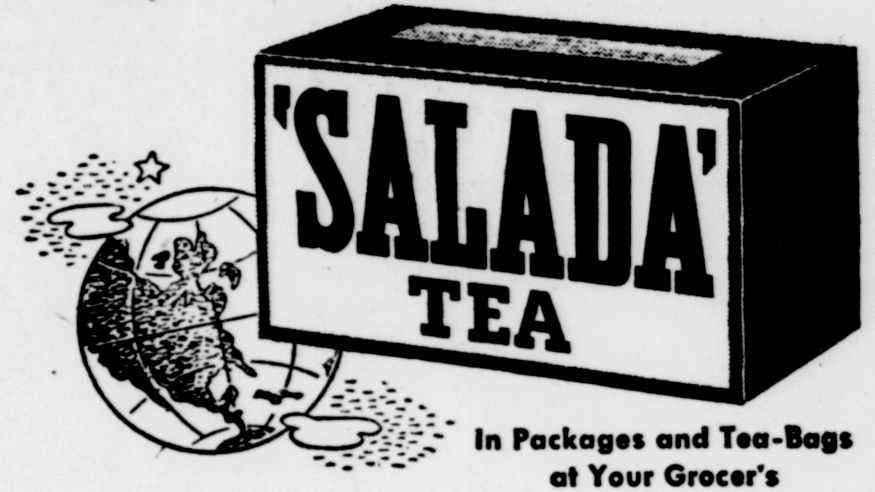

Children under two years of age may be severely ill with this disease, and if exposed, parents are advised to consult their physician who may administer a serum either to modify or prevent the disease.

Brehm Convicted On Five Counts

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Republican Rep. Walter E. Brehm of Ohio, a five-term member of Congress, was convicted last night of receiving $1,000 in unlawful political contributions.

After deliberating four hours and 18 minutes, a federal court jury of 10 men and two women found the 58-year-old Ohioan guilty on five counts, involving as many $200 contributions from Mrs. Emma S. Craven while she worked for him in 1948.

The maximum sentence that could be imposed is 15 years in prison and a $25,000 fine. But maximum penalties seldom are imposed in convictions on several counts.

Brehm was convicted of breaking a law that forbids congressmen to accept political gifts from persons on the federal payroll.

Brehm's lawyer, Leo A. Rover, told reporters he will ask for a new trial. Failing that, he said, he will appeal the case to higher courts.

The tall, heavy-set congressman was pale, but showed no emotion when jury foreman B. Richard Breslar, a restaurant operator, announced the verdict in an almost-empty courtroom. Brehm stood facing the jury, both hands jammed deep in the pockets of his double-breasted suit coat.

The jury acquitted Brehm on one count which alleged he received a $140 campaign contribution in early 1948 from Mrs. Clara Soliday, a 74-year-old widow who worked for him for three years until January of that year.

Last week, Judge Burnita S. Matthews threw out still another count which accused Brehm of taking a $240 political donation from Mrs. Soliday in December 1947. Judge Matthews found that the alleged contribution occurred too long a time before the indictment was returned.

Judge Matthews did not announce when Brehm will be sentenced. In most cases, sentence is not imposed until the motion for a new trial is ruled on.

She permitted Brehm to remain free in the $1,000 bond he posted after his indictment in December.

Probers Report

measures to eliminate racketeers from the liquor and transportation industries and bigger staffs for federal law enforcement agencies, especially the Narcotics Bureau.

The committee also recommended creation of a federal crime commission with Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) dissenting. He said he feared it might lead to creation of a national police force. The committee said this was the only part of the report on which the five members were not unanimous.

Suggestions Advanced
A number of suggestions also were advanced for action by state and local governments to break up underworld operations. Although the committee said the federal government can help, it stressed that crime "must be attacked primarily at the local level."

The committee said "the most shocking revelations" of its nationwide probe, authorized by the Senate almost exactly a year ago, were "the extent of official corruption and connivance in facilitating and promoting organized crime."

The senators said they found this corruption and connivance at all levels of government—federal, state and local.

One of their major conclusions was this: "Despite known arrest records and well-documented criminal reputations, the leading hoodlums in the country remain, for the most part, immune from prosecution and punishment, although underlings of their gangs may on occasion be prosecuted and punished."

"This quasi-immunity of top-level mobsters can be ascribed to what is popularly known as the 'fix.'"

Various Types of 'Fix'
The committee said that although it had run across considerable evidence of bribery, the fix is not always the direct payment of money to law-enforcement officials.

"The fix may also come about," the senators said, "through the acquisition of political power by contribution to political organizations or otherwise, by creating economic ties with apparently respectable and reputable businessmen and lawyers, and by buying public good will through charitable contributions and press relations."

The committee said bluntly in one of its conclusions that "wide-open gambling operations and racketeering conditions are supported by out-and-out corruption in many places."

It added that these flagrant violations can "easily be cleaned up by vigorous law enforcement." The committee cited Saratoga, N. Y., as an outstanding example of this, saying it "ran wide-open through the racing season of 1949 but was closed down tight in 1950."

'Firmly Entrenched'
The senators found interstate criminal gangs to be "firmly entrenched" in the nation's largest cities. As it had in an earlier report, it named two major crime syndicates as the Accardo-Guzik-Fischietti mob in Chicago and the Costello - Adonis - Lansky outfit based in New York.

These two syndicates, as well as lesser ones, the committee said, are bound together by the shadowy Mafia, a secret underworld society that had its origins in Sicily.

The report described the Mafia as "a loose-knit organization specializing in the sale and distribution of narcotics, the conduct of various gambling enterprises, prostitution, and other rackets based on extortion and violence."

er any of the persons listed were their relatives, friends or acquaintances.

Asks Public Come Forth
After the session in the picturesque brick county courthouse, Minton urged that anyone with information about illegal gambling in the county communicate with the investigators.

Before recessing the court session, Justice Leo J. Hagerty warned that the six jurors might "be approached" in an effort to influence them.

He urged them to report to him immediately "if convinced you have been approached in an effort to influence you" during the recess.

The chief difficulty in empaneling a jury is that many veniremen are acquainted with various public officials of the county or its sub-divisions.

Jurors selected were: Mrs. Blanche Lobdell, a housewife from the town of Stillwater; Mrs. Louise R. Morris of Round Lake; Alton J. Noyes of South Glens Falls, chief accountant for the Glens Falls Insurance Co.; Roy Adsit of the town of Clifton Park, a clerk in the General Electric Co.; Kenneth D. Creighton, also from Clifton Park, a lumberyard manager in Schenectady; and Delbert J. Cornith, a retired paper mill worker.

It takes about 250 pounds of coal to make five auto tires and tubes.

Draftee Reported

authorities will take action against either of the Amborskis had not been decided. He added, however, he doesn't believe an issue will be made of the case.

The elder Amborski said he is "taking full responsibility for bringing my son back from that camp." He said Stanley has a spinal curvature and weak eyes "and they refused to let him rest in a hospital or in his barracks at Ft. Wood. He was too weak even to carry a rifle."

Complained of Pains

Capt. John R. Weiss, surgeon at the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, said Stanley had acute back and abdominal pains which had not been fully diagnosed. He was removed to the hospital upon the advice of a civilian physician summoned after the 450-mile trip from Ft. Leonard Wood.

Doctors at the Naval Hospital said the soldier was "not in any condition to be moved when we received him." They added they

it was prepared under Bradley's direction.

Russell said no question was raised at the committee's closed meeting as to whether a wire recorder or some similar device might have been used at the conference. Republicans said they will ask about that.

He 'Might Have'

Queried last week as to how the Wake report could be documented, President Truman said he might have done it himself. He might have, he emphasized.

A Republican member of the inquiry committee told a reporter MacArthur was asked to compare his version of the conference with the administration's report.

As soon as he gets the authorship cleared up, Russell said he will make public the document. The Georgia senator hoped to make available today long-secret Korean portions of a 1947 report by Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemeyer.

Wedemeyer made a special mission to China and Korea in the summer of 1947. His entire report was kept secret until July, 1949, when portions of it were published in a State Department "White Paper" on relations with China. But the department said then it deleted "all references to Korea" as irrelevant to this paper.

Some Senators apparently believe Wedemeyer warned four years ago of the dangers of withdrawal of American occupation troops from Korea and, in effect, predicted the north Korean attack which came last June.

In an evident reference to the Wedemeyer report, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) told the Senate yesterday that "if some of the documents which have been suppressed for four years had been made available to the people and to Congress, we would not have risked 60,000 casualties in Korea."

Reds Close Gates

keep them out of Seoul. And he did.

One Red mortar company reached the north bank of the Han roughly 15 miles east of Seoul and began firing on the south bank.

But even the Red radio at Pyongyang made no claims that the Chinese got closer than five miles to Seoul, now bristling with American artillery.

In the lull censorship was relaxed to permit correspondents to report it was the U. S. First Marine Division and a British brigade that checked the crushing Red smash at the center of the allied line April 22 and 23.

One Marine officer, Lt. Col. Webb D. Sawyer of Alexandria, Va., said the fighting in checking the breakthrough by 140,000 Chinese was worse than anything the Marines saw in northeast Korea last winter.

One marine said their machine gunners killed Reds at the rate of 20 a minute but the Reds charged at the rate of 25 a minute.

H. J. Davis Fined $25

Herbert Burdick of 81 Green street, Kingston, claimed Sunday afternoon he had been forced off the road near Phoenicia. State Police Corporal Ray Dunn of Phoenicia was notified and a warrant was sworn out by Burdick charging Harvey J. Davis, 63, of 106 O'Neil street, Kingston, with reckless driving. Davis was picked up an hour and a half later at Wittenberg by Corporal Dunn and taken before Justice George Brandley of the town of Woodstock. Davis paid $25 fine for reckless driving.

Lyman Peck of Pine Hill was arrested by State Police Corporal Ray Dunn on a charge of public intoxication. Residents reported Peck was seen bleeding profusely about the hand. It was found Peck had been cut while attempting to open a beer bottle. He will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ray Smith later.

Knights to Honor 50-Year Members At May 15 Banquet

Three members of the local Knights of Columbus who have completed 50 years of continuous membership in Kingston Council, 275, will be honored during a special banquet program Tuesday, May 15, it was announced today.

Those who will be honored during the program include John H. Schatzel, who joined the Council April 9, 1900; Frank L. Meagher, October 24, 1900; and Joseph F. Sullivan, November 12, 1900.

Joseph F. Saccaman, past grand knight, has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of making arrangements for the affair. The banquet on May 15 will start at 7 p. m. in the Council Hall.

Others assisting in the formation of plans include the following:

Allen A. Baker, Francis J. Noonan, Francis J. Carroll, Michael J. Larkin, program; Harold Grunewald, Clayton Bruck, Joseph Netherwood, F. V. Domanico, John Glowinski, Ed J. Gillen, Joseph Disch, Sr., John J. Hoffman, John Nagy, Thomas Cloonan, Michael Bonomo, Charles Trice, Chris Perry, Sr., banquet; Kenneth Clark, John Smith, Harold O'Connor, tickets and door; Joseph J. Murphy, James V. Series E Bonds Are 10 Years Old Today

Washington, May 1 (AP)—If you stepped right up and patriotically bought some of the first World War Two Savings Bonds—and still have 'em—you can have a little May Day celebration of your own.

Series E Bonds bought any time in May, 1941 are ten years old today—they mature, as the bankers say. That means you can cash them in for their full face value. Some $112,000,000 first issue Series E Bonds were purchased ten years ago this month.

But the government, in the interests of keeping inflationary spending down, would like you to continue the investment instead of cashing in.

Knights to Honor 50-Year Members At May 15 Banquet

Three members of the local Knights of Columbus who have completed 50 years of continuous membership in Kingston Council, 275, will be honored during a special banquet program Tuesday, May 15, it was announced today.

Those who will be honored during the program include John H. Schatzel, who joined the Council April 9, 1900; Frank L. Meagher, October 24, 1900; and Joseph F. Sullivan, November 12, 1900.

Joseph F. Saccamano, past grand knight, has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of making arrangements for the affair. The banquet on May 15 will start at 7 p. m. in the Council Hall.

Others assisting in the formation of plans include the following:

Allen A. Baker, Francis J. Noonan, Francis J. Carroll, Michael J. Larkin, program; Harold Grunenwald, Clayton Bruck, Joseph Netherwood, F. V. Domancio, John Glawinski, Ed J. Giffman, Joseph Dirsch, Sr., John J. Hoffman, John Nagy, Thomas Cloonan, Michael Bonomo, Charles Trice, Chris Perry, Sr., banquet; Kenneth Clark, John Smith, Harold O'Connor, tickets and door; Joseph J. Murphy, James V. Geary, Dr. John B. Cooke, Jr., Andrew T. Gilday, publicity; James Leachman, John Tancredi, John Ceccarano.

Series E Bonds Are 10 Years Old Today

Washington, May 1 (AP)—If you stepped right up and patriotically bought some of the first World War Two Savings Bonds—and still have 'em—you can have a little May Day celebration of your own.

Series E Bonds bought any time in May, 1941 are ten years old today—they mature, as the bankers say. That means you can cash them in for their full face value. Some $112,000,000 first issue Series E Bonds were purchased ten years ago this month.

But the government, in the interests of keeping inflationary spending down, would like you to continue the investment instead of cashing in.

Dog Lovers Club Has First Show Kerry Blue Wins

Approximately 150 persons were on hand Saturday afternoon for the Kingston High School Dog Lovers Club's first annual dog show, held at the Chapel Hill Kennels, with Arnold Schmidt, owner, judging all events.

First place in the purebred class went to a Kerry Blue Terrier handled by Shirley Cohen. A part Setter canine topped top honors in the mixed breed class, under the guidance of Nancy Bogert. Meanwhile, the obedience trial, won by a Border Collie who captured crowd applause as he followed out each of his mistress' commands, proved that the young showmen had spent time and effort to train their pets. Miss Spassenko won a leash donated by Potter Bros. sporting goods. Second prize in this group went to Susan Barley, with a part Hound, who won a harness donated by Everett and Treadwell, and third place ribbon to Natalie Alcon with a German Shepherd.

second, Pointer, Nancy Bogert, handler, Sterling silver pin donated by Richard Meyer, Jeweler; third, Wire Haired Terrier, Sherill Phillips, handler, harness donated by Diehl's; fourth, Dalmatian, Donna Tyler, handler, six cans dog food donated by Forst Packing Co.; fifth, Cocker Spaniel, Linda Etchells, handler, cake donated by Ketterer's Bakery.

The following five prizes were donated in the mixed breed class: First, part Setter, Nancy Bogert, handler, $5 award donated by Mr. Schmidt; second, part Fox Terrier, Jane Davidson, handler, comb and brush donated by Dog Lovers Club; third, part Collie, Jacqueline Friedman, handler, harness donated by Herzog's; fourth, part Spitz, Mary Ellen Adams, handler, six cans of dog food donated by Forst Packing Co.; fifth, part Fox Terrier, Sharon Crosswell, handler, package of dog food donated by Lang's Market.

Shirley Cohen, chairman, was in charge of arrangements for the show, assisted by Natalie Alcon, Nadya Spassenko, Sharon Crosswell, Nancy Tomlinson, and Joan Simmons. Leo Deheny, club advisor, was announcer. Spectator chairs were furnished by Henry J. Bruck.

Ashokan to Hold Neighbor Contest

A "Welcome to Hollywood" party will be held in the Ashokan Methodist Church hall June 2, featuring a "good neighbor" contest, with a Tom Breneman rose-bush as the winner's award, it was announced today. Awards will be based on letter of nomination submitted prior to the program.

Any person who knows, or has heard of the outstanding neighborly acts of some person, perhaps someone whose kind and thoughtful deeds are little known, may make a nomination.

So that each letter may be carefully read, and a decision reached by a panel of judges before June 2, nominations should be post-marked before May 26, and addressed to Miss Kathleen McFarlan, R.D. 3, Kingston.

The June 2 program is being planned by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Olive Fire Department No. 1, Inc., and will be based on the well-known daily coast-to-coast broadcast. A gift will also be given to the writer of the prize winning letter.

Since 1910, the American farmer has increased his investment in tools and machinery about 900 per cent.

INTRODUCING CLERGYMAN

A librarian writes: "We have a request from someone for information on the proper way to introduce a Protestant clergyman, particularly under these social conditions: He was a guest at a dinner and was greeted by the hostess and introduced by her to others as 'Mr. Smith, our minister.' But other people didn't know whether they should call him Mr. Smith or Reverend Smith, which certainly seemed more befitting his position."

Calling a clergyman Reverend is not approved by the fastidious, but in many instances where the clergyman is not a Dr., it is considered more respectful than calling him Mr.

Simplifying Thank You

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer had a gift sent him on an anniversary by a couple. The card read from Mr. and Mrs.

The wife he has never met; the husband he knows personally. How can he write a note to thank Dear Mr. and Mrs. when he calls the husband Jim and conversely, how can it be Dear Jim and Mary when he doesn't know the wife?

Answer: Correctly, his answer is to the one he thinks is most likely to have bought his present. If it is the wife, he writes "Dear Mrs. Jones, Thank you for the present you and Jim sent me." If it is the other way round, he would write, "Dear Jim, Thank you for the beautiful present you and your wife sent me."

Returning Baby Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to return baby gifts when the baby does not live? It never wore anything.

Answer: Very often they are kept in the hope that there may be another baby at some future time.

Beginning With I

Dear Mrs. Post: Someone tells me it is not correct to begin any letter with I. If this is true, why is it?

Answer: It was true 60 years ago, but today there's no objection to it at all.

Which name is said first when introducing an older person and a young person to each other? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," explains fully. To obtain a copy send 10 cents to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Bernhardt's Son To Give Recital For Concert Workers

Warren Bernhardt, the young son of Lawrence Bernhardt, eastern manager of the Community Concert Association and a student of Sascha Goroditzki, has been invited to give a short recital of piano selections Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The recital, to be attended by workers and captains, will mark the opening of the Community Concerts' annual membership campaign which, as in former years, falls during National Music Week, May 6 through 12. Workers planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. N. LeVan Haver at 1212 by Thursday.

Membership in the Kingston Community Concerts Association, it has been emphasized, is open to the entire public, and entitles the holder to attend all three concerts planned for the 1951-52 season. Two of the programs, the Indianapolis Symphony under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky, and Cesare Siepi, young bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, have already been announced. Sevitzky and the Indianapolis Symphony are returning to Kingston by popular request, and Siepi is best characterized as a singer who has made a cataclysmic rise to fame. He is probably the major musical discovery of the Metropolitan's past season.

Those wishing memberships are asked to contact any of the workers. To call headquarters at the Governor Clinton Hotel next week or to call Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, 1899; Miss Florence Cordis, 531; Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr, 417. The association has also announced special student rates will be available.

Personal Notes

Miss Sylvia Balash of Tucson, Ariz., the daughter of Mrs. Andrew Balash and the late Mr. Balash, has been spending a two-week vacation at her mother's home, 138 Newkirk avenue. Miss Balash has now returned to Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Chesterman, of East Greenbush are the parents of a daughter born April 27 at Albany Hospital, Albany. Mrs. Chesterman is the former Mary Manion, daughter of Mr. Mrs. Peter Manion, 32 Sherman street, this city.

Richard F. Gruver, of Hurley, who left last week for Albuquerque, N. M., is now employed by the Wylie Brothers Road Construction Company of this city. The trip to the Southwest was made in company with Lieut. Joseph Magnino, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magnino, of Johnston avenue, this city, who has been transferred from New Orleans to Sandia Air Force Base, near Albuquerque.

Dog Lovers Club Has First Show Kerry Blue Wins

Approximately 150 persons were on hand Saturday afternoon for the Kingston High School Dog Lovers Club's first annual dog show, held at the Chapel Hill Kennels, with Arnold Schmidt, owner, judging all events.

First place in the purebred class went to a Kerry Blue Terrier handled by Shirley Cohen. A part Setter canine topped top honors in the mixed breed class, under the guidance of Nancy Bogert. Meanwhile, the obedience trial, won by a Border Collie who captured crowd applause as he followed out each of his mistress', Nadya Spassenko's, commands, proved that the young showmen had spent time and effort to train their pets. Miss Spassenko won a leash donated by Potter Bros. sporting goods. Second prize in this group went to Susan Barley, with a part Hound, who won a harness donated by Everett and Treadwell, and third place ribbon to Natalie Alcon with a German Shepherd.

second, Pointer, Nancy Bogert, handler, Sterling silver pin donated by Richard Meyer, jeweler; third, Wire Haired Terrier, Sherill Phillips, handler, harness donated by Diehl's; fourth, Dalmatian, Donna Tyler, handler, six cans dog food donated by Forst Packing Co.; fifth, Cocker Spaniel, Linda Etchells, handler, cake donated by Ketterer's Bakery.

The following five prizes were donated in the mixed breed class: First, part Setter, Nancy Bogert, handler, $5 award donated by Mr. Schmidt; second, part Fox Terrier, Jane Davidson, handler, comb and brush donated by Dog Lovers' Club; third, part Collie, Jacqueline Friedman, handler, harness donated by Herzog's; fourth, part Spitz, Mary Ellen Adams, handler, six cans of dog food donated by Forst Packing Co.; fifth, part Fox Terrier, Sharon Crosswell, handler, package of dog food donated by Lang's Market.

Shirley Cohen, chairman, was in charge of arrangements for the show, assisted by Natalie Alcon, Nadya Spassenko, Sharon Crosswell, Nancy Tomlinson, and Joan Simmons. Leo Doheny, club advisor, was announcer. Spectator chairs were furnished by Henry J. Bruck.

Ashokan to Hold Neighbor Contest

A "Welcome to Hollywood" party will be held in the Ashokan Methodist Church hall June 2, featuring a "good neighbor" contest, with a Tom Breneman rosebush as the winner's award. It was announced today. Awards will be based on letter of nomination submitted prior to the program.

Any person who knows, or has heard of the outstanding neighborly acts of some person, perhaps someone whose kind and thoughtful deeds are little known, may make a nomination. So that each letter may be carefully read, and a decision reached by a panel of judges before June 2, nominations should be postmarked before May 26, and addressed to Miss Kathleen McFarlan, R.D. 3, Kingston.

The June 2 program is being planned by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Olive Fire Department No. 1, Inc., and will be based on the well-known daily coast-to-coast broadcast. A gift will also be given to the writer of the prize winning letter.

Since 1910, the American farmer has increased his investment in tools and machinery about 900 per cent.

Bernhardt's Son To Give Recital For Concert Workers

Warren Bernhardt, the young son of Lawrence Bernhardt, eastern manager of the Community Concert Association and a student of Sascha Gorodnitzky, has been invited to give a short recital of piano selections Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The recital, to be attended by workers and captains, will mark the opening of the Community Concerts' annual membership campaign which, as in former years, falls during National Music Week, May 6 through 12. Workers planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. N. LeVan Haver at 1212 by Thursday.

Membership in the Kingston Community Concerts Association, it has been emphasized, is open to the entire public, and entitles the holder to attend all three concerts planned for the 1951-52 season. Two of the programs, the Indianapolis Symphony under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky, and Cesare Siepi, young bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, have already been announced. Sevitzky and the Indianapolis Symphony are returning to Kingston by popular request, and Siepi is best characterized as a singer who has made a cataclysmic rise to fame. He is probably the major musical discovery of the Metropolitan's past season.

Those wishing memberships are asked to contact any of the workers. To call headquarters at the Governor Clinton Hotel next week, or to call Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, 1899; Miss Florence Cordts, 531; Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr, 417. The association has also announced special student rates will be available.

Personal Notes

Miss Sylvia Balash of Tucson, Ariz., the daughter of Mrs. Andrew Balash and the late Mr. Balash, has been spending a two-week vacation at her mother's home, 138 Newkirk avenue. Miss Balash has now returned to Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Chesterman, of East Greenbush are the parents of a daughter born April 27 at Albany Hospital, Albany. Mrs. Chesterman is the former Mary Manion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Manion, 32 Sherman street, this city.

Richard F. Gruver, of Hurley, who left last week for Albuquerque, N. M., is now employed by the Wylie Brothers Road Construction Company of that city. The trip to the Southwest was made in company with Lieut. Joseph Maggino, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maggino, of Johnston avenue, this city, who has been transferred from New Orleans to Sandia Air Force Base, near Albuquerque.

Nurses to Start Course Tonight

The first instructors' course for Self Help and Neighbor Help for the Injured in Ulster county will be started 7:30 tonight in the conference room of the Kingston City Laboratory. This instructor group is composed of volunteers from the Ulster County Practical Nurses Association. This group is to be complimented for their public spirit in assuming additional responsibilities beyond their regular call as practical nurses. Following completion of this course, these nurses will serve as instructors to individuals desiring to take this basic course in first aid in their various different communities.

A group of teachers in Highland will be the second class of instructors, starting on May 8 at Highland High School. It is hoped that representatives from other organized groups in different sections throughout the city and county will volunteer for this course and in turn instruct the public in the basic facts relating to first aid.

Trinity Lutheran Ascension Service

The annual Ascension Day service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The festival of the Ascension is one of the important days in the church year commemorating the ascension of our Lord. The pastor, the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, will preach a sermon on the theme, "The Ascension of our Lord."

The following musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Willard Burke, choir director, and Miss Lucinda Merritt, church organist:

Prelude, Evening Prelude, Cummings; anthem, Open Our Eyes, Macfarlane; offertory, postlude, Concluding Voluntary, Battiste.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

The senior choir rehearsal will be held immediately after the service.

Local Residents Share In Esemann Estate

New York, May 1 (Special)—The estate left by the late William Esemann of New York, in which two Ulster Park and Kingston residents share, was appraised at $25,827, gross value, and $22,852, net, in a report filed here today by the State Transfer Tax Department. Chief asset was real estate valued at $18,500.

After distribution of $4,000 in specific legacies, one-fifth the estate goes to Catherine Dingley of 2 Otis street, Kingston, and one-tenth to Johanna Schaeferberger of Ulster Park.

Mr. Esemann died on June 25, 1949.

Civic Leaders To Hear Health Speaker May 7

Many leaders and civic organization representatives will attend the annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston on May 7. The meeting will follow dinner which will be served at 6:30 p. m.

A report of the activities of the health association will be presented to those attending the meeting.

An invitation has been extended to the members of the Children's Committee of Ulster County which is affiliated with the State Charities Aid Association. Dr. Harry S. Mustard, executive director of State Charities Aid Association and its affiliates, will be the speaker. Dr. Mustard, an internationally known figure in the public health and welfare field, is a former commissioner of health of New York city. He recently gave a series of seven lectures at a public health institute conducted by the Health and Welfare Department of British Columbia, Canada. Dr. Mustard spoke both in Victoria and Vancouver on public health and welfare problems.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb is chairman of the meeting. Serving with Dr. Holcomb are Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland; C. Denman Raymond, Ellenville; Dr. Edward F. Shea and N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston.

Workers Are Checked

Boston, May 1 (AP)—Postal inspectors today were checking some 300 Boston municipal workers to determine if they were connected with what has been termed a multi-million dollar post office fraud. A government official said the city workers are suspected of collecting post office pay without showing up for work at the South Postal Annex. The men being investigated, inspectors said, are employed in five city departments, public health, public building, public works and fire.

Kuehn 'Good'

The condition of John H. Kuehn, 68, of 30 Liberty street, is "good," Kingston Hospital authorities reported today. Kuehn was injured late Friday night when his bicycle was struck by an automobile on Albany avenue near Madison avenue, police reported.

Manchester Paper Says Tobey Has Improper Plates

Manchester, N. H., May 1 (AP)—The Manchester Union Leader says in a front page story that Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), a member of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, is driving an illegally registered automobile.

The paper says its Washington correspondent reported the senator's car was seen in the capital yesterday bearing a 1950 New Hampshire registration plate.

Under New Hampshire law the 1951 registration was due April 1. The story says that a check with the state motor vehicle department showed Tobey did not send in his application for a new registration until April 24. The registration, however, does not become effective until the plates have been placed on the car.

There was no comment from Sen. Tobey in Washington, but in Concord, N. H., the senator's son, Attorney Charles W. Tobey, Jr., said:

"This story emanates from one who has been in active contact with William O'Dwyer since the crime hearings commenced in New York. The full context of the telephone conversation between William Loeb, publisher of the Union Leader, and witness O'Dwyer is not as yet fully known."

"Senator Tobey will neither be intimidated nor stopped."

The Union Leader opposed Sen. Tobey in last fall's election.

Tillson Man Injured In Automobile Crash

New York, May 1 (Special)—In a head-on automobile collision on the Henry Hudson Parkway on Monday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, John Ruska, 41, of Tillson was injured and taken to the Jewish Memorial Hospital. His condition today was reported as not serious.

According to the police, Ruska's automobile was northbound when the vehicle operated by Mabel Jacoby, 39, of 5550 Netherland avenue, The Bronx going south jumped the center island at 230th street and crashed head-on into the Ruska car. The condition of the woman was reported at the hospital, where she is suffering from cerebral concussion and other injuries.

Nurses to Start Course Tonight

The first instructors' course for self help and neighbor help for the injured in Ulster county will be started 7:30 tonight in the conference room of the Kingston City Laboratory. This instructor group is composed of volunteers from the Ulster County Practical Nurses Association. This group is to be complimented for their public spirit in assuming additional responsibilities beyond their regular call as practical nurses. Following completion of this course, these nurses will serve as instructors to individuals desiring to take this basic course in first aid in their various different communities. A group of teachers in Highland will be the second class of instructors, starting on May 8 at Highland High School. It is hoped that representatives from other organized groups in different sections throughout the county will volunteer for this course and in turn instruct the public in the basic facts relating to first aid.

Trinity Lutheran Ascension Service

The annual Ascension Day service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The festival of the Ascension is one of the important days in the church year commemorating the ascension of our Lord. The pastor, the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, will preach a sermon on the theme, "The Ascension of our Lord." The following musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Willard Burke, choir director, and Miss Lucinda Merritt, church organist: Prelude, Evening Prelude, Cummings; anthem, Open Our Eyes, Macfarlane; offertory, postlude, Concluding Voluntary, Batiste.

The public is cordially invited to attend. The senior choir rehearsal will be held immediately after the service.

Local Residents Share In Esemann Estate

New York, May 1 (Special)—The estate left by the late William Esemann of New York, in which two Ulster Park and Kingston residents share, was appraised at $25,827, gross value, and $22,852, net, in a report filed here today by the State Transfer Tax Department. Chief asset was real estate valued at $18,500.

After distribution of $4,000 in specific legacies, one-fifth the estate goes to Catherine Dingleday of 2 Otis street, Kingston, and one-tenth to Johanna Schaufelberger of Ulster Park.

Mr. Esemann died on June 25, 1949.

Civic Leaders To Hear Health Speaker May 7

Many leaders and civic organization representatives will attend the annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston on May 7. The meeting will follow dinner which will be served at 6:30 p. m.

A report of the activities of the health association will be presented to those attending the meeting.

An invitation has been extended to the members of the Children's Committee of Ulster County which is affiliated with the State Charities Aid Association.

Dr. Harry S. Mustard, executive director of State Charities Aid Association and its affiliates, will be the speaker. Dr. Mustard, an internationally known figure in the public health and welfare field, is a former commissioner of health of New York city. He recently gave a series of seven lectures at a public health institute conducted by the Health and Welfare Department of British Columbia, Canada. Dr. Mustard spoke both in Victoria and Vancouver on public health and welfare problems.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb is chairman of the meeting. Serving with Dr. Holcomb are Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland; C. Denman Raymond, Ellenville; Dr. Edward F. Shea and N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston.

Workers Are Checked

Boston, May 1 (AP)—Postal inspectors today were checking some 300 Boston municipal workers to determine if they were connected with what has been termed a multi-million dollar post office fraud. A government official said the city workers are suspected of collecting post office pay without showing up for work at the South Postal Annex. The men being investigated, inspectors said, are employed in five city departments, public health, public building, public works and fire.

Kuehn 'Good'

The condition of John H. Kuehn, 68, of 30 Liberty street, is "good," Kingston Hospital authorities reported today. Kuehn was injured late Friday night when his bicycle was struck by an automobile on Albany avenue near Madison avenue, police reported.

Manchester Paper Says Tobey Has Improper Plates

Manchester, N. H., May 1 (AP)—The Manchester Union Leader says in a front page story that Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), a member of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, is driving an illegally registered automobile.

The paper says its Washington correspondent reported the senator's car was seen in the capital yesterday bearing a 1950 New Hampshire registration plate.

Under New Hampshire law the 1951 registration was due April 1. The story says that a check with the state motor vehicle department showed Tobey did not send in his application for a new registration until April 24. The registration, however, does not become effective until the plates have been placed on the car.

There was no comment from Sen. Tobey in Washington, but in Concord, N. H., the senator's son, Attorney Charles W. Tobey, Jr., said:

"This story emanates from one who has been in active contact with William O'Dwyer since the crime hearings commenced in New York. The full context of the telephone conversation between William Loeb, publisher of the Union Leader, and witness O'Dwyer is not as yet fully known."

"Senator Tobey will neither be intimidated nor stopped." The Union Leader opposed Sen. Tobey in last fall's election.

Tillson Man Injured In Automobile Crash

New York, May 1 (Special)—In a head-on automobile collision on the Henry Hudson Parkway on Monday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, John Ruska, 41, of Tillson was injured and taken to the Jewish Memorial Hospital. His condition today was reported as not serious.

According to the police, Ruska's automobile was northbound when the vehicle operated by Mabel Jacoby, 39, of 5550 Netherland avenue, The Bronx going south jumped the center island at 230th street and crashed head-on into the Ruska car. The condition of the woman was reported at the hospital, where she is suffering from cerebral concussion and other injuries.

Pittsfield Indians At Stadium Tonight

Ismael Alvarado Starting Hurler

A baseball dream comes true in Kingston tonight. A Kingston-owned franchise will make its debut in the Class C Canadian-American League, one of the country's best organized baseball leagues. Manager Hank Camelli, the former Pittsburgh and Boston catcher, has nominated Ismael Alvarado, the slim Puerto Rican southpaw, as the starting pitcher against the Pittsfield Indians.

Game time is 8 p. m., with appropriate ceremonies at 7:45 p. m.

The Pittsfield club is managed by Dick Carter, who was skipper at Schenectady a year ago, and is returning for his third season in the Houghton wheel.

The Indians are a Philadelphia Phillies farm club. Following tonight's opener, the Colonials travel to Pittsfield for the secondary opener on Wednesday and then travel to Oneonta to meet the Boston Red Sox farm squad on Thursday and Friday.

The Colonials will be home on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday against Gloversville, Johnstown and the Rome Colonels.

Kingston's prospects are indeterminate at the moment. Manager Hank Camelli, who will appear in at least half of the Colonial contests, has had to work from scratch assembling a ball club without the benefit of spring training in Florida.

The Colonials showed good balance in Sunday's thrilling 4 to 3 11-inning victory over Emil Gall's Fargo-Moorhead club at municipal stadium. They came from behind with two runs, after spotting the Twins a run in the top of the 11th.

With nearly $10,000 in the till as the result of a sale of $10 shares, the 1951 Colonials represent a "community team" in the strict sense of the word. The 1951 season marks the fourth for Kingston in organized ball since the Dodger farm club operated here in 1947. The city was without organized ball in 1948. Ted Lano's New Brunswick, N. J. club of the Colonial League transferred here in mid-season 1949 and played the whole 1950 season.

Five New Pilots in Can-Am Loop

For the first time in a decade, the Can-Am baseball league will feature a complete managerial transition for the 1951 season. Here is the 1951 lineup: KINGSTON — (new team); Hank Camelli. Oneonta—Owen Sheetz, Boston Red Sox farm. Pittsfield—Dick Carter; 1950 manager at Schenectady. Rome—Clarence "Buck" Etchison, long-ball hitter who was manager in 1947 North Atlantic League. Gloversville — Al Barillari. Nuff said. Amsterdam—Frank Novosel; veteran of New York Yankee chain.

Rhinebeck Races Open Saturday

Stock car racing stages its seasonal inaugural Saturday night at the Rhinebeck Speedway, with local stars and big name drivers of the Eastern circuit returning for what promises to be another banner season for stock competition. Steve Iko, who has been identified with midwest racing and stock cars since 1949, will again be at the helm of the Apoughkeeps Sports Club which promotes the races.

Iko was the first promoter to sign a contract for stock car racing in New York state when the sport was virtually unknown. Rhinebeck fans were the first to see and pass approval on the wild type of racing used by the stock promoters. The races have achieved tremendous popularity.

The United Stock Car Club, Inc., largest club with leading drivers who had two successful years at the Fair Grounds oval will again sanction the races.

Rhinebeck is rated one of the best money tracks in the entire circuit with purses often paying drivers close to $4,000 a night. Many car owners now have over $2,000 invested in special speed motor parts and many new ideas as special features will be given the acid test Saturday night.

Booster Title To Morgan's Rest

Morgan Rest No. 1 keggers have captured the 1950-51 Booster Bowling League title, by defeating Greenkill Rest in the post-season rolloff by 105 pins, 2327 to 2222, and in games by a 2-1 margin.

The teams tied during the regular season with 63 wins and 36 losses. The Morgans had to come from behind, after dropping the first set. A big 846 middle score bulked their bid for the crown. Sam Avnet was the big gun with 503 on solos of 129, 171 and 203. Ken Hornbeck shot 478. High men for Greenkill Rest were Jim Howard with 493 and Don Keyser with 487.

The new champions will be feted at the annual banquet tonight at the Moose Lodge home.

Maroon Netmen Defeat Blues

Coach Theron Culver's defending DUSO champions opened their 1951 tennis campaign by trouncing Poughkeepsie, 4 to 1, yesterday on the Bridge city courts.

Kingston's only setback was in the No. 1 singles, when Giez of the Blues tripped Jay Rider, 6-3, 6-3.

George Carpozis and Dan Fitzgerald won their singles for the Maroons, who also captured both doubles.

The summaries: (Singles) Giez, P., defeated Jay Rider, K., 6-3, 6-3. George Carpozis, K. d. Burchis, P., 6-3, 6-3. Dan Fitzgerald, K. d. Havens, P., 6-2, 6-0.

(Doubles) Jay Rider and G. Carpozis, K. d. Giez and Burchis, P., 6-3, 6-1. Frank Smith and John Schoonmaker, K. d. Havens and Kazuuma, P., 6-0, 6-1. The Maroons were scheduled to meet Middletown High at 4:30 p. m. today at Hutton Park.

Chisox Sluggers Dominate Averages

Chicago, May 1 (AP)—The rejuvenated Chicago White Sox, with a robust .319 team batting average, dominate the American League hit parade today with four players among the loop's top five hitters.

Heading the list is 23-year-old Jim Bushy, the only rookie among the 11 leaders. Bustling Bushy, who notched 310 for Sacramento last year, is clicking at .462 with 18 hits in 39 trips to the plate in 10 games.

Veteran Eddie Robinson of the Palehose is second with .448, with teammate Nelson Fox fourth with .400 and Chico Carrasquel fifth with .391.

Third place is held by Cleveland's Luke Easter, now on the injury list, with .423.

The other leaders in averages compiled through Sunday's games: Ray Coleman, St. Louis, .378; Billy Goodman of Boston, the 1950 batting champion, with .336; and Dom DiMaggio, Boston, Al Rosen, Cleveland; and Irv Noren and Mickey Vernon, Washington, all tied at .350.

Betty Jameson Sets Early Pace

Fresno, Calif., May 1 (AP)—San Antonio's Betty Jameson was the pace setter and the great Babe Didrikson Zaharias was in the somewhat unfamiliar role of runner-up as the field teed off today in the last round of the 54-hole Valley Women's $3,000 Open Golf tournament.

Mrs. Jameson, former National Open champion, had rounds of 72-78-150 behind her. She started the last round two strokes to the good over Mrs. Zaharias, the tournament favorite. The Babe's efforts were 77-75-152. Trailing the first two were Alice and Shirley Fry all gained in the second round of the women's division of the British hard courts tennis championships yesterday. Top-seeded Miss Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., whipped Mrs. Roy McKelvie of England, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Fry of Akron, O., defeated Edith Hill of England, 6-0, 6-0, and Miss Baker of Santa Monica, Calif., eliminated Mrs. Molly Wavish of England, 6-1, 6-1 in first round matches.

—CAN AM PRESIDENT CONFIDENT—

President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League expressed confidence last night in the 1951 prospects for the Class C circuit.

Speaking in Schenectady, Houghton said "quite an increase of interest" had been noted in the six cities this year. He said the Can-Am was a "more closely knit league" this season and added that he was "very optimistic" about the possibility of good turnouts throughout the season.

"I think," he said, "we hit the bottom last year" when the attendance totaled about 500,000 compared to an average of 750,000 for the four preceding seasons.

The Class C circuit had eight clubs in 1950, but the two Canadian members—Quebec and Three Rivers—withdraw to join the Provincial League. Quebec copped the 1950 pennant.

Favorites Advance

Bornemouth, England, May 1 (AP)—Doris Hart, Beverly Baker and Shirley Fry all gained in the second round of the women's division of the British hard courts tennis championships yesterday. Top-seeded Miss Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., whipped Mrs. Roy McKelvie of England, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Fry of Akron, O., defeated Edith Hill of England, 6-0, 6-0, and Miss Baker of Santa Monica, Calif., eliminated Mrs. Molly Wavish of England, 6-1, 6-1 in first round matches.

Wiltwyck Golfers Card Red Hook

Dr. George Rifenburg, the long-hitting dentist, and Mrs. Reggie Winters teamed up to win the first mixed two-ball foursome of the season, with a net 69 to lead a field of 11 teams, Sunday at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Dr. Rifenburg and his partner combined their efforts for a fine gross of 89 and received a 20-handicap. Sylvia Leventhal and Bob Daley finished second with a net 71, while the Agnes Kennedy-Bill Costello tandem took third place.

Mort Englander and Marie Ketterer won a prize for high net. City Champion Bill Van Aken captured low gross honors for the second week in a row with a card of 29-36-75. Other blind-bogey winners were Bill Messing, Larry Jacobs, Ed Tongue, Bill Burns, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., R. S. Powell and Bill Van Aken.

The first inter-club match of the season will be played in Red Hook next Sunday. All members interested in competing are requested to sign at the club.

The tournament committee has set the dates of June 9 and 10 for the second annual Wiltwyck member-guest tournament. It will be a best-ball, handicap tournament of 18 holes.

Robinson Paces National Batters

New York, May 1 (AP)—Jackie Robinson is off and running in the National League batting race with a leading .396 for the first 12 games.

The Brooklyn second baseman vowed this spring he was going to give it everything he had from the start. No more trying to pace himself and save for a stretch drive. It may backfire in September. But now he's a ball of fire. Robinson is running the bases with his old abandon although he's stolen only one. He is taking the extra base on hits, jiggling on the base lines and upsetting pitchers.

Robinson also leads the league in runs scored, 13, and hits, 19. Bob Elliott, Boston's power hitting third baseman, is second in hitting with .381. Bob missed several games because of a leg injury.

★★★ The Colonials' Starting Lineup for Opener ★★★

Pittsfield Indians At Stadium Tonight

Ismael Alvarado Starting Hurler

A baseball dream comes true in Kingston tonight. A Kingston-owned franchise will make its debut in the Class C Canadian-American League, one of the country's best organized baseball leagues.

Manager Hank Camelli, the former Pittsburgh and Boston catcher, has nominated Ismael Alvarado, the slim Puerto Rican southpaw, as the starting pitcher against the Pittsfield Indians.

Game time is 8 p. m., with appropriate ceremonies at 7:45 p. m.

The starting lineup:

Joe Stelmach, 2b
Thomas Luce, ss
Joe Niro, 3b
Lou Kramberg, 1b
Charlie Gobeo, rf
Eddie Pagan, lf
Jack Allen, c
Ismael Alvarado, p

The Pittsfield club is managed by Dick Carter, who was skipper at Schenectady a year ago, and is returning for his third season in the Houghton wheel.

The Indians are a Philadelphia Phillies farm club.

Following tonight's opener, the Colonials travel to Pittsfield for the secondary opener on Wednesday and then travel to Oneonta to meet the Boston Red Sox farm squad on Thursday and Friday.

The Colonials will be home on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday against Gloversville, Johnstown and the Rome Colonels.

Kingston's prospects are indeterminate at the moment. Manager Hank Camelli, who will appear in at least half of the Colonial contests, has had to work from scratch assembling a ball club without the benefit of spring training in Florida.

The Colonials showed good balance in Sunday's thrilling 4 to 3 11-inning victory over Emil Gail's Fargo-Moorhead club at municipal stadium. They came from behind with two runs, after spotting the Twins a run in the top of the 11th.

With nearly $10,000 in the till as the result of a sale of $10 shares, the 1951 Colonials represent a "community team" in the strict sense of the word.

The 1951 season marks the fourth for Kingston in organized ball since the Dodge farm club operated here in 1947. The city was without organized ball in 1948. Ted Laviano's New Brunswick, N. J. club of the Colonial League transferred here in mid-season 1949 and played the whole 1950 season.

Five New Pilots in Can-Am Loop

For the first time in a decade, the Can-Am baseball league will feature a complete managerial transition for the 1951 season.

Here is the 1951 lineup:

KINGSTON — (new team): Hank Camelli.

Oneonta — Owen Sheetz, Boston Red Sox farm.

Pittsfield — Dick Carter; 1950 manager at Schenectady.

Amsterdam — Frank Novosel, veteran of New York Yankee chain.

Rhinebeck Races Open Saturday

Stock car racing stages its seasonal inaugural Saturday night at the Rhinebeck Speedway, with local stars and big name drivers of the Eastern circuit returning for what promises to be another banner season for stock competition.

Steve Iko, who has been identified with midjet racing and stock cars since 1949, will again be at the helm of the Apoughkeeps Sports Club which promotes the races.

Iko was the first promoter to sign a contract for stock car racing in New York state when the sport was virtually unknown. Rhinebeck fans were the first to see and pass approval on the wild type of driving used by the stock drivers. The races have achieved tremendous popularity.

The United Stock Car Club, Inc., largest club with leading drivers who had two successful years at the Fair Grounds oval will again sanction the races. Rhinebeck is rated one of the best money tracks in the entire circuit with purses often paying drivers close to $4,000 a night. Many car owners now have over $2,000 invested in special speed motor parts and many new ideas and special features will be given the acid test Saturday night.

Booster Title To Morgan's Rest

Morgan Rest No. 1 kegler has captured the 1950-51 Booster Bowling League title, by defeating Greenkill Rest in the post-season rolloff by 105 pins, 2327 to 2222, and in games by a 2-1 margin.

The teams tied during the regular season with 63 wins and 36 losses.

The Morgans had to come from behind, after dropping the first set, A big 846 middle score bulked their bid for the crown.

Sam Avnet was the big gun with 503 on solos of 129, 171 and 203. Ken Hornbeck shot 478. High men for Greenkill Rest were Jim Howard with 493 and Don Keyser with 487.

The new champions will be feted at the annual banquet tonight at the Moose Lodge home.

Maroon Netmen Defeat Blues

Coach Theron Culver's defending DUSO champions opened their 1951 tennis campaign by trouncing Poughkeepsie, 4 to 1, yesterday on the Bridge city courts.

Kingston's only setback was in the No. 1 singles, when Giez of the Blues tripped Jay Rider, 6-3, 6-3.

George Carpozis and Dan Fitzgerald won their singles for the Maroons, who also captured both doubles.

(Singles)

Giez, P., defeated Jay Rider, K., 6-3, 6-3.

George Carpozis, K. d. Burchis, P., 6-3, 6-3.

Dan Fitzgerald, K. d. Havens, P., 6-2, 6-0.

(Doubles)

Jay Rider and G. Carpozis, K. d. Giez and Burchis, P., 6-3, 6-1.

Frank Smith and John Schoonmaker, K. d. Havens and Kazuma, P., 6-0, 6-1.

The Maroons were scheduled to meet Middletown High at 4:30 p. m. today at Hutton Park.

Chisox Sluggers Dominate Averages

Chicago, May 1 (P)—The rejuvenated Chicago White Sox, with a robust .319 team batting average, dominate the American League hit parade today with four players among the loop's top five hitters.

Heading the list is 23-year-old Jim Busby, the only rookie among the 11 leaders. Bustling Busby, who notched .310 for Sacramento last year, is clicking at .462 with 18 hits in 39 trips to the plate in 10 games.

Veteran Eddie Robinson of the Palchase is second with .448, with teammate Nelson Fox fourth with .400 and Chico Carrasquel fifth with .391.

Third place is held by Cleveland's Luke Easter, now on the injury list, with .423.

The other leaders in averages compiled through Sunday's games are Ray Coleman, St. Louis, .378; Billy Goodman of Boston, the 1950 batting champion, with .366; and Dom DiMaggio, Boston, Al Rosen, Cleveland, and Irv Noren and Mickey Vernon, Washington, all tied at .350.

Betty Jameson Sets Early Pace

Fresno, Calif., May 1 (P)—San Antonio's Betty Jameson was the pace setter and the great Babe Didrikson Zaharias was in the somewhat unfamiliar role of runner-up as the field teed off today in the last round of the 54-hole Valley Women's $3,000 Open Golf tournament.

Miss Jameson, former National Open champion, had rounds of 72-78-150 behind her. She started the last round on six strokes to the good over Mrs. Zaharias, the tournament favorite.

The Babe's efforts were 77-75-152.

Trailing the first two were Alice Bauer of Midland, Tex., and Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., tied at 154.

Oliver Enters

New York, May 1 (P)—Ed (Porky) Oliver, sixth last year, will make another try to capture the Palm Beach round robin invitation-golf tournament on June 7-10 at the Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, N. Y. His entry was announced yesterday.

—CAN AM PRESIDENT CONFIDENT—

President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League expressed confidence last night in the 1951 prospects for the Class C circuit.

Speaking in Schenectady, Houghton said "quite an increase of interest" had been noted in the six cities this year. He said the Can-Am was a "more closely knit league" this season and added that he was "very optimistic" about the possibility of good turnouts throughout the season.

"I think," he said, "we hit the bottom last year," when the attendance totaled about 500,000 compared to an average of 750,000 for the four preceding seasons.

The Class C circuit had eight clubs in 1950, but the two Canadian members—Quebec and Three Rivers—withdrawed to join the Provincial League. Quebec copied the 1950 pennant.

By Ralph Rodden

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The biggest trade of the season and the end of the New York Giants' victory drought put a new complexion to the major league baseball races today as eastern and western teams came to grips for the first time.

The Giants ended a crushing 11-game losing streak last night by beating their arch rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-5, before a capacity throng of 33,962 at Ebbets Field. It was the only game in the majors.

There was no hooting or back slapping in the Giant clubhouse after the victory. "It's been a long dry spell," Manager Leo Durocher said with a wry smile.

But the Giants have a long way to go before they can live up to their winter book rating as pennant contenders. They are in last place with three victories and 12 defeats, nine games off the .500 mark.

Easier Stuff

Durocher's athletes return to the Polo Grounds tonight where they open a ten-game stand against the lightly regarded western clubs, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Last night the Giants went to town early, scoring all of their runs in the first two innings against Chris Van Cuyk, Earl Mossor and Joe Hatten.

Sal Maglie started for the Giants and lingered until the sixth when Sheldon Jones came on to stamp out a rally. The Dodgers outthrew the Giants, 10-8. Three of the Dodgers' blows were home runs by Gene Hermanski, Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider.

The biggest trade of the year was engineered by Cleveland, Chicago and Philadelphia of the American League and it involved seven players.

Cleveland considerably strengthened its pennant outlook by acquiring lefthander Lou Brissie from the A's. The Indians have been seeking a starting lefthander for a long time to go along with their big four of Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, all righthanders.

The three-cornered deal sent catcher Ray Murray, pitcher Sam Zoldak and outfielders Gus Zernial and Dave Philley to the Athletics, outfielder Paul Lehner and infielder-outfielder Orestes Minoso to Chicago and Brissie to Cleveland.

Brissie, who had a disappointing season last year for the A's after two excellent years expressed disappointment, declaring: "I know I've been bum so far, but I never thought Jim (Dykes) would do that."

Wiltwyck Golfers Card Red Hook

Dr. George Rifkenbary, the long-hitting dentist, and Mrs. Reggie Winters teamed up to win the first mixed two-ball foursome of the season, with a net 69 to lead a field of 11 teams, Sunday at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Dr. Rifkenbary and his partner combined their efforts for a fine gross of 89 and received a 20-handicap. Sylvia Leventhal and Bob Daley finished second with a net 71, while the Agnes Kennedy-Bill Costello tandem took third place.

Mort Englander and Marie Ketterer won a prize for high net.

City Champion Bill Van Aken captured low gross honors for the second week in a row with a card of 29-36-75. Other blind-bogey winners were Bill Messing, Larry Jacobs, Ed Tongue, Bill Burns, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., R. S. Powell and Bill Van Aken.

The first inter-club match of the season will be played in Red Hook next Sunday. All members interested in competing are requested to sign at the club.

The tournament committee has set the dates of June 9 and 10 for the second annual Wiltwyck member-guest tournament. It will be a best-ball, handicap tournament of 18 holes.

The defending champions are Bob Cullum, of Kingston, and Jim Talbot of Poughkeepsie.

Robinson Paces National Batters

New York, May 1 (P)—Jackie Robinson is off and running in the National League batting race with a leading .396 for the first 12 games.

The Brooklyn second baseman vowed this spring he was going to give it everything he had from the start. No more trying to pace himself and save for a stretch drive. It may backfire in September. But now he's a ball of fire.

Robinson is running the bases with his old abandon although he's stolen only one. He is taking the extra base on hits, jiggling on the base lines and upsetting pitchers.

Robinson also leads the league in runs batted in, 13, and hits, 19. Bob Elliott, Boston's power hitting third baseman, is second in hitting with .381. Bob missed several games because of a leg injury.

Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, the St. Louis center fielder who was hanging on the ragged edge of the majors a few weeks back, is third at .364.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

FLY CASTING TIPS FOR BEGINNERS....

DON'T TRY FOR DISTANCE UNTIL YOU CAN CONTROL THE SHORTER CASTS. START WITH A SHORT, 6 FOOT LEADER AND ABOUT 20 FT. OF LINE. YOU'LL PERFECT YOUR CAST MUCH FASTER AND BE CASTING 50 FT. BEFORE YOU KNOW IT. TOO MUCH LINE IS A BEGINNER'S HANDICAP!

A FLY SHOULD ALWAYS BE USED WHEN PRACTICE CASTING FOR ITS "DRAG" ON THE LINE TO PREVENT IT FROM WHIP-CRACKING OR POPPING ON THE BACKCAST. IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO FILE THE BARB OFF THE HOOKS SHANK BEFORE PRACTICING TO PREVENT ANY INJURIES.

Manhattan, St. John's NYU Will Remain

New York, May 1 (AP)—City College of New York, its great "Cinderella Team" already shattered by the broad game-fixing scandal, saw the door slam today on bigtime basketball.

The New York Board of Higher Education ruled that CCNY, along with other municipal colleges, won't be permitted to play in Madison Square Garden or "any other commercially operated establishments."

This had the immediate effect of reducing the Beavers, the only team ever to win the two big national tournaments in a single season, to a secondary status.

"If we can't play in the large arenas naturally we can't play a bigtime schedule," said Coach Nat Holman, the onetime Celtic star. "Our gym seats only about 1100. We couldn't make intercollegiate games attractive or profitable for visitors."

Holman said he had sent out feelers with hopes of arranging a 22-game schedule but admitted it wouldn't be ambitious.

"It's best that we soft-pedal awhile until we can build back up," he added, "but I hope some day our boys will be given the opportunity to play in big arenas again. They are as enthusiastic as ever about basketball."

Three Teams Stay

The ban on Garden games was announced yesterday after a special session of the Board and it followed by a few hours the indictment of 12 former basketball players involved in the betting scandal, including four stars of CCNY, brilliant sophomore championship team of 1949-50.

Also affected by the order were Brooklyn, Queens and Hunter Colleges but there aren't Garden principals.

The Board's action was recommended in a report submitted by a special committee appointed Feb. 10 to investigate the status of basketball and other intercollegiate sports in city institutions.

The Board's directive does not endanger the multi-million dollar basketball setup at the Garden since three other major New York institutions—St. John's, Manhattan and New York University—have decided to continue to play there under a new arrangement which gives them a bigger hand in the operations.

Bill Hornbeck and Emil Greenberg emerged as high average leaders in their respective divisions of the Y.M.C.A. Mercantile League. Hornbeck paced the National loop with 172, while Greenburg pounded the maples for 175 in the American.

Eddie Bock rolled 582 for high series in the American, while Eddie Auclair's 234 led the solos. Sam Hayes rolled 235 and Fred Sarbacher shot 619 in the Mercantile.

Other top averages in the American were: Emil Bock 164; L. Jordan 163; H. Williams 163; Austin Hitchcock and Tom Rowland, 161; John Raible 160. Other high average men in the National were: Sam Hayes 167; Ferd Short 167; Ed Schussler 161; R. Fatum 160.

Emma Pratt rolled high triple of 483 in the BYA League yesterday, with solos of 148, 177 and 158. Runnerup Fritz Davis had 451; Lillian Fromer 449; Edith Hungerford 422; Dorothea Walthery 419 and Nellie Alverson 406.

What It Takes To Bid Two N.T.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

In yesterday's article we discussed the opening bid of one no-trump. Today we will talk about the opening bid of two no-trump.

The opening bid of two no-trump shows a hand that is just slightly better than double an average hand. Remember that an average hand contains one ace, one king, one queen, one jack, and one ten.

In today's hand for example, South has slightly better than average strength in the black suits. His holding in the red suits is also slightly better than an average hand. Hence the full hand is worth an opening bid of two no-trump.

Such an opening bid is not forcing to game, so North would pass with a really blank hand. As it is, he can just barely afford to respond. Note, however, that he might well have passed if South had opened with one club. It took the opening bid of two no-trump to keep North aloft.

In the play, East puts up the jack of spades at the first trick, and South wins with the queen. Declarer's best chance to make his game contract lies in winning four club tricks. Hence South leads a diamond to dummy's king in order to begin the play of the clubs.

Here, however, declarer must be very precise. The hand is lost if the wrong club is led from the dummy. Look the hand over and select your play before reading on.

The nine of clubs must be led first from dummy. When that wins, dummy continues with the jack of clubs. Thus dummy holds the lead for a third club finesse, to bring in the entire suit.

If the jack of clubs is led first, South must win the second round of clubs, and the entire suit cannot be won. If dummy leads the jack and South drops the ten under it, East will be able to cover the nine of clubs with his king, and he will then have a natural club trick.

Office for Farm Loans to Be Open Saturdays 8 to 12

In order to give better service to the public during the present mobilization period, the office of the Farmers Home Administration, 25 East O'Reilly street, will be open until further notice on Saturdays from 8 a. m. to 12 noon.

Announcement to this effect was made today by F. A. Norman, local supervisor of the FHA, who said the action was taken in accordance with a recent directive from the secretary of agriculture.

The Kingston office serves the counties of Dutchess, Greene, Sullivan and Ulster. Applicants for loans for farm operation, the purchasing, development or enlargement of farms, farm housing loans for the repair, improvement or construction of farm buildings and disaster loans may now file applications on Saturday mornings.

"Due to limited personnel necessitating our rescheduling the work week, it will often be necessary to close the office on half day earlier in the week and prospective callers are asked to make appointments by phone in order to avoid calling at a time when the office may be closed," the supervisor said.

The 13 types of loans available from the Farmers Home Administration are made to experienced farmers who are unable to secure the credit they need from regular local lending agencies.

Through the insured mortgage program, operated by the Farmers Home Administration, local lending agencies, insurance companies or individuals can invest in fully insured loans on local farms. Information on the services available through the Farmers Home Administration may be obtained at 25 East O'Reilly street, Kingston.

Colonial Parade

Members of the Kingston Colonial baseball club will be paraded through the city this evening, starting at 6:30 p. m. The players, club officials and city dignitaries will ride in open cars.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Pet Show Slated Saturday, May 26

Woodstock, May 1—On Saturday afternoon, May 26, this village will have its first annual pet show. Weather permitting it will be held outdoors on the grounds immediately surrounding the Red Barn, or in the case of inclement weather, in a shed directly adjacent.

Extensive plans for the show began when Mrs. Louise Bolton and Miss Winifred Haile, who conduct their antique business at the Red Barn, were chatting with Ed Bauman, one afternoon and suggested the idea to him. Bauman was immediately enthusiastic and already he has received cards from youngsters who will exhibit their pets.

Those who plan to show their pets will be required to bring along a folding chair or small table on which to exhibit the animals. All pets will be required to wear a leash, a harness, a collar with a chain or strap in order that they may be under control at all times.

Competent and special judges will award prizes, not necessarily however, to a pedigreed pet. Prizes will be awarded for the most beautiful, the most intelligent, the funniest pet and to those in several other categories.

"I hope," said Bauman, "that folks won't just think of dogs or cats as pets. We've had Christmas parties for pets at the Greenwich Village Humane League in New York and although dogs and cats were the predominating entries, still there were other pets such as birds, goldfish, turtles, rabbits, hamsters, etc. One youngster brought his trained flea, and still another opened his hands cautiously to exhibit 'de foist pet woin in captivity.' Those who would like to enter their pets are requested to drop a card to Ed Bauman in Woodstock. Entries are requested to list the number of pets and to sign their names and addresses and to state the ages of both the owner and the pet.

Business Association Helps on Fixing Dates

Woodstock, May 1—The Woodstock Business Association has in the last several days received communications from the various groups and organizations in the township, listing functions which will take place, so that other organizations do not arrange their affairs for the same date thereby causing a conflict. When such conflicts occur attendance is divided and each organization in turn suffers.

It will be remembered that the Woodstock Business Association recently offered to act as a clearing house for the filing and dissemination of such information and the result has been heartening. To date, the following events have been listed: May 1, Dutch Reformed Church; May 10, Home Bureau card party; May 21, American Legion card party; May 26, food sale, Dutch Reformed Church; May 30, Memorial Day parade; August 2, Lutheran Church cafeteria supper; August 10, Dutch Reformed Church cafeteria supper.

William Hand, president of the Woodstock Business Association, said, "I'm happy that our association is able to render this service to the various fraternal, religious and social groups, and I hope that the members or the various secretaries will continue to advise me at my place of business (Woodstock Dairies) where we keep the calendar, and where, incidentally, it may be reviewed if any of the groups are in doubt as to what days or dates to choose."

Home Bureaus to Hold Exhibition of Work

Woodstock, May 1—In celebration of National Demonstration Week, the Woodstock Home Bureau and Overlook Home Bureau are holding an exhibition of work by members at the Woodstock Dairies from April 30 to May 5. Included in the articles on display are trays, rugs, stencil work, bags, gloves made by members of both units.

The regular meeting of the Home Bureau will be held on Tuesday, May 8, at the American Legion Hall at 2 p. m. The meeting is open to the public.

The card party to be held on Tuesday, May 10, in the Town Hall promises to be a great success. Plans have been completed by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Froot.

Village Notes

Woodstock, May 1—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Neilson will move to a house on the Rock City road next to the Stanley Longyear house, on May 1. They formerly resided at the Mikkelsen house at the rear of Deanes.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Cousins celebrated their fourth birthday last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cousins on the Glasco Turnpike. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hoyt and their children of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Eva Cousins and Mrs. Mollie Higgins Smith.

Harry Alpern left for New York on Sunday to spend a few days on a buying trip for the Little Shop in the village.

Bonnie MacManus spent Sunday in New York.

Miss Jacqueline Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jackson, received her varsity letter for lacrosse at the annual Beaver College Athletic Association banquet held at the college recently in Jenkintown, Pa. Miss Jackson has also been named a member of the traditional honor court at the college for the annual May Day ceremonies which will be held at the Grey Towers campus, Glenside, Pa., Saturday afternoon, May 5, at 2 p. m. Outstanding members of the junior and senior classes form the honor court while outstanding freshmen and sophomores make up the laurel chain. Jackie was one of nineteen selected by fellow classmates to receive this honor. She is majoring in biology.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Huttly will arrive on Tuesday from Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. John Scott of New York will arrive Thursday to spend 10 days visiting her sister, Miss Patricia Bensing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arndt left Monday for a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Godwin have moved to a house on the lower Byrdcliffe road.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaj Klitgaard have returned to their Bearsville home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Neher have moved to the Weitzner home on Mead Mountain road. Mr. and Mrs. Neher spent the week-end in New York.

Pvt. Robert Rifenberg has been transferred from Fort Devens, Mass., to Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Campaign Is Speeded

Paris, May 1 (AP)—Premier Henri Queuille's campaign for national elections in mid-June gathered speed today as the National Assembly approved a new election law designed to reduce Communist representation. The Assembly voted the bill in a 339 to 251 confidence vote shortly after midnight. The government vote—28 more than the absolute majority needed to override any future veto by the Upper House Council of the Republic—apparently assured enactment of the legislation on its next reading before the Assembly.

Short Circuit Fire

A short circuit in electrical wiring was listed as the cause of a fire that slightly damaged an automobile owned by Arthur Perry at 112 West Pierpont street Monday afternoon.

Harold Sanford reported. Firemen used chemicals in extinguishing the blaze.

I'll match my Dodge with any car on the road for

Value and Dependability

—says MICHAEL OPPENHEIM

"Sure, I've owned and driven other make cars," says Michael Oppenheim, Bellerose, N. Y. "But since 1941 my cars have all been Dodges. So when I say I'll match Dodge with any other car for value and dependability, I'm on safe ground. I know how dependable Dodge cars are, how little they cost to run. In fact, my new 1951 car is another dependable Dodge!"

You could pay up to $1,000 more and not get all the extra room, comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

Compare what Dodge gives you . . . with what other cars offer. Check the Dodge record for ruggedness and dependability. Then you'll understand why Dodge owners say they'll match Dodge with any car on the road.

Take riding comfort for example. You could pay far more for a car and still not get the almost unbelievable smoothness of the new Onflow ride. Even on roughest roads there's no wheel "hop" or bounce . . . wheels stay on ground providing a smooth, level ride for all passengers.

You get the relaxing comfort of extra head room, leg room and shoulder room. You never feel cramped or crowded. And Dodge gives you the priceless safety of "Watchtower" visibility . . . of Safety-Rim Wheels . . . of big Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes with much larger braking surface to stop you smoothly, safely, surely.

Dodge Gyro-Matic is the lowest priced automatic transmission on the market. It lets you drive all day long without shifting . . . yet it is simpler, safer—gives you full control of your car under all driving conditions.

And no car at any price can match the Dodge reputation for ruggedness and dependability. Come in—see and drive today's big Dodge.

Bowling Scores

All Colonial Women's League captains are requested to make ticket and money returns to Eleanor Singer tonight at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium.

Peggy Lester was the big news in the Central Rec Mixed League, with a 511 triple, the first "500" of her bowling career. She achieved the coveted score and leadership of the staff department in the circuit with solos of 180-183-148-511. Runnerup was Kay Roosa with 486. E. Barkley shot 450; L. La Rocca 444; Marge Van Alstyne 417; M. Kirsten 415; M. Daniel 404.

Joe Sangi rolled high single of 245 and 367 to pace the men's division. Jim Daniels shot 213-564; Jack Houghtaling 529; Don Peterson 515; Fred Schryver 483; Frank Cirone 476; Ken Boughton 454.

Bill Hornbeck and Emil Greenburg emerged as high average leaders in their respective divisions of the Y.M.C.A. Mercantile League. Hornbeck paced the National loop with 172, while Greenburg pounded the maples for 175 in the American.

Eddie Bock rolled 582 for high series in the American, while Eddie Auclair's 234 led the solos. Sam Hayes rolled 235 and Fred Sarbacher shot 619 in the Mercantile.

Other top averages in the American were: Emil Bock 164; L. Jordan 163; H. Williams 163; Austin Hitchcock and Tom Rowland, 161; John Raible 160. Other high average men in the National were: Sam Hayes 167; Ferd Short 161; Ed Schussler 161; R. Fatum 160.

Emma Pratt rolled high triple of 483 in the BYA League yesterday, with solos of 148, 177 and 158. Runnerup Fritz Davis had 451; Lillian Fromer 449; Edith Hungerford 422; Dorothea Walther 419 and Nellie Alverson 406.

To date, the following events have been listed: May 1, Dutch Reformed Church; May 10, Home Bureau card party; May 21, American Legion card party; May 26, food sale, Dutch Reformed Church; May 30, Memorial Day parade; August 2, Lutheran Church cafeteria supper; August 10, Dutch Reformed Church cafeteria supper.

William Hand, president of the Woodstock Business Association, said, "I'm happy that our association is able to render this service to the various fraternal, religious and social groups and I hope that the members or the various secretaries will continue to advise me at my place of business (Woodstock Dairies) where we keep the calendar, and where, incidentally, it may be reviewed if any of the groups are in doubt as to what days or dates to choose."

Home Bureaus to Hold Exhibition of Work

Woodstock, May 1—In celebration of National Demonstration Week, the Woodstock Home Bureau and Overlook Home Bureau are holding an exhibition of work by members at the Woodstock Dairies from April 30 to May 5. Included in the articles on display are trays, rugs, stencil work, bags, gloves made by members of both units.

The regular meeting of the Home Bureau will be held on Tuesday, May 8, at the American Legion Hall at 2 p. m. The meeting is open to the public.

The card party to be held on Tuesday, May 10, in the Town Hall promises to be a great success. Plans have been completed by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Froot.

Village Notes

Woodstock, May 1—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Neilson will move to a house on the Rock City road next to the Stanley Longyear house, on May 1. They formerly resided at the Mikkelsen house at the rear of Deanes.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Cousins celebrated their fourth birthday last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cousins on the Glasco Turnpike. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hoyt and their children of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Eva Cousins and Mrs. Mollie Higgins Smith.

Bonnie MacManus spent Sunday in New York.

Miss Jacqueline Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jackson, received her varsity letter for lacrosse at the annual Beaver College Athletic Association banquet held at the college recently in Jenkintown, Pa. Miss Jackson has also been named a member of the traditional honor court at the college for the annual May Day ceremonies which will be held at the Grey Towers campus, Glenside, Pa., Saturday afternoon, May 5, at 2 p. m. Outstanding members of the junior and senior classes form the honor court while outstanding freshmen and sophomores make up the laurel chain. Jackie was one of nineteen selected by fellow classmates to receive this honor. She is majoring in biology.

Campaign Is Speeded

Paris, May 1 (AP)—Premier Henri Queuille's campaign for national elections in mid-June gathered speed today as the National Assembly approved a new election law designed to reduce Communist representation. The Assembly voted the bill in a 339 to 251 confidence vote shortly after midnight. The government vote—28 more than the absolute majority needed to override any future veto by the Upper House Council of the Republic—apparently assured enactment of the legislation on its next reading before the Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Huty will arrive on Tuesday from Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. John Scott of New York will arrive Thursday to spend 10 days visiting her sister, Miss Patricia Benning.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arndt left Monday for a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Godwin have moved to a house on the lower Byrdcliffe road.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaj Klitgaard have returned to their Bearville home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Neher have moved to the Weitzner home on Mead Mountain road. Mr. and Mrs. Neher spent the week-end in New York.

Pvt. Robert Rifenberg has been transferred from Fort Devens, Mass., to Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Short Circuit Fire

A short circuit in electrical wiring was listed as the cause of a fire that slightly damaged an automobile owned by Arthur Perry at 112 West Pierpont street Monday afternoon.

Harold Sanford reported, Firemen used chemicals in extinguishing the blaze.

I'll match my Dodge

with any car on the road for Value and Dependability

—says MICHAEL OPPENHEIM

"Sure, I've owned and driven other make cars," says Michael Oppenheim, Ballerose, N. Y. "But since 1941 my cars have all been Dodges. So when I say I'll match Dodge with any other car for value and dependability, I'm on safe ground. I know how dependable Dodge cars are, how little they cost to run. In fact, my new 1951 car is another dependable Dodge!"

Stolen Car Gotten After Chase; Two Boys Are Detained

Good work on the part of Corporal Ray Dunn of the state police, Phenicia outpost, and the assistance of Fred Cleveland of Shandaken was responsible for the recovery of a car stolen from Cohoes Sunday and the apprehension of two 15-year-old Cohoes boys who allegedly took the car from Columbus street, Cohoes, with the intention of going to New York.

At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning Charles Howe, who operates Charlie's gas station in Phenicia, notified Corporal Dunn that a black Dodge car with three men in it had stopped for gas. They bought $1.50 worth of gas and when he turned to hang up the hose the car drove away. Howe

Corporal Dunn notified Margaretville troopers and then contacted Fred Cleveland at Shandaken and asked him to watch for the car and learn its route. The car continued up Route 28 at the junction of 28 and 42 and Cleveland also obtained the full number, 8-A-489. At Fleischmanns Trooper Robert Emerick attempted to stop the car but it sped away with the trooper in pursuit. Meanwhile Corporal Dunn had also taken up the chase.

Near Fleischmanns high school the car turned off on a dirt road with the trooper in pursuit. Near the Cat's Meow the Dodge left the road and collided with a pole. One man ran away and two remained at the car.

It was found the driver was a 15-year-old Cohoes boy and his companion the same age. Their names were not disclosed due to their age. The third occupant was a soldier, Robert Hosler, 21, from Fort Dix who had picked up a ride at Hudson and had been asleep in the rear of the car throughout the ride until awakened by the trooper siren. He was released. The two boys were held by Corporal Dunn for Cohoes authorities.

Wedemeyer Told President in 1947 Of Korean Threat

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer advised President Truman nearly four years ago that Korea was threatened by a "Soviet-controlled invasion of North Korean forces."

This was disclosed today with release of the top-secret report on Korea that Wedemeyer submitted to Mr. Truman September 9, 1947.

The report, with certain parts deleted, was made public by the Senate Armed Services Committee in advance of its inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Hearings on MacArthur's dismissal from the Far Eastern command are to begin Thursday.

Wedemeyer advised against U. S. removal of its forces from Korea pointing out that the Russians dominated North Koreans through Communists.

Considerable Unrest
"There is considerable unrest in South Korea," the report said, "but forces available to General Hodge are adequate to cope with it and order is being maintained."

General John R. Hodge then was in command of U. S. forces occupying South Korea, later withdrawn and General MacArthur was in Japan as supreme commander in the Pacific.

"A United States withdrawal which permitted the Soviet Union to dominate Korea would result in a serious political and psychological threat to China, including Manchuria, and Japan," Wedemeyer said.

Report Is Made
Wedemeyer's report was made before China fell under the control of the Communists. He also made a report on China. A censored version of this already has been made public.

In the Korean report, Wedemeyer said: "The United States has a strong strategic interest in insuring permanent military realization of Korea and its denial as a base to the Soviet Union."

Wedemeyer predicted: "The Soviets will withdraw their occupation forces just as soon as they can be sure that the North Korean puppet government and armed forces which they have created will be strong enough and sufficiently well indoctrinated to be relied upon to carry out Soviet objectives without the actual presence of Soviet troops."

Among his recommendations, Wedemeyer suggested that the U. S.-Russian withdrawal be proportionate "with as many guarantees as possible to safeguard Korean freedom and independence."

He also urged military aid and supplies to South Korea, and proposed an "American-offered Korean scout force to replace the present constabulary of sufficient strength to cope with the threat from the north."

He said, too, that should be "continued interim occupation by United States army forces in Korea."

FBI to Examine
gamblers and crooked policemen. Former Police Inspector Frederick A. Hofsaes appeared yesterday for the fourth time before the jury. Hofsaes, who quit the police force shortly after he was suspended, testified for one hour before the panel.

His testimony presumably dealt with a television set he allegedly received in December, 1948, from big-time bookmaker Harry Gross.

Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand, who is directing the Brooklyn inquiry, said the former police officer was subject to re-call. Asked whether Hofsaes was cooperating in the investigation, Helfand replied, "he is answering questions."

Decker Gets 2 Months For Drunken Driving
Ephraim Decker of Sleightsburgh, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving a car while intoxicated as a second offender, was sentenced to two months in the county jail Monday afternoon in County Court by County Judge John M. Gashin. In addition he was fined $200 but payment of the fine was suspended.

George Deputy, 61, Stone Ridge, entered a plea of guilty to a morals charge as indicted and sentence will be pronounced on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Jurors were called until June 4 at 2 p. m. when the April trial term of county court will be resumed.

Comment Is Declined
Washington, May 1 (AP)—The White House declined all comment today on the Senate Crime Investigating Committee's report.

Stolen Car Gotten

After Chase; Two

Boys Are Detained

Good work on the part of Corporal Ray Dunn of the state police, Phoenicia outpost, and the assistance of Fred Cleveland of Shandaken was responsible for the recovery of a car stolen from Cohoes Sunday and the apprehension of two 15-year-old Cohoes boys who allegedly took the car from Cohoes street, Cohoes, with the intention of going to New York.

At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning Charles House, who operates Charles's gas station in Phoenicia, notified Corporal Dunn that a black Dodge car with three men in it had stopped for gas. They bought $1.50 worth of gas and when he turned to hang up the hose the car drove away. House

Corporal Dunn notified Margaretville troopers and then contacted Fred Cleveland at Shandaken and asked him to watch for the car and learn its route. The car continued up Route 28 at the junction of 28 and 42 and Cleveland also obtained the full number, 8-A-489. At Fleischmanns Trooper Robert Emerick attempted to stop the car but it sped away clock in the trooper in pursuit. Meanwhile Corporal Dunn had also taken up the chase.

Near Fleischmanns high school the car turned off on a dirt road with the trooper in pursuit. Near the Cat's Meow the Dodge left the road and collided with a pole. One man ran away and two remained at the car.

It was found the driver was a 15-year-old Cohoes boy and his companion the same age. Their names were not disclosed due to their age. The third occupant was a soldier, Robert Hosler, 21, from Fort Dix who had picked up a ride at Hudson and had been asleep in the rear of the car throughout the ride until awakened by the trooper siren. He was released. The two boys were held by Corporal Dunn for Cohoes authorities.

WEDMEYER TOLD PRESIDENT IN 1947 OF KOREAN THREAT

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer advised President Truman nearly four years ago that Korea was threatened by a "Soviet-controlled invasion of North Korea forces."

This was disclosed today with release of the top-secret report on Korea that Wedemeyer submitted to Mr. Truman September 9, 1947.

The report, with certain parts deleted, was made public by the Senate Armed Services Committee in advance of its inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Hearings on MacArthur's dismissal from the Far Eastern commands are to begin Thursday.

Considerable Unrest

"There is considerable unrest in South Korea," the report said, "but forces available to General Hodge are adequate to cope with it and to maintain order, though completely inadequate, even with maximum assistance from General MacArthur, to meet Soviet-controlled invasion of North Korea forces."

General John R. Hodge then was in command of U. S. forces occupying South Korea, later withdrawn, and General MacArthur was in Japan as supreme commander in the Pacific.

"A United States withdrawal which permitted the Soviet Union to dominate Korea would result in a serious political and psychological threat to China, including Manchuria, and Japan," Wedemeyer said.

Report Is Made

Wedemeyer's report was made before China fell under the control of the Communists. He also made a report on China A censored version of this already has been made public.

In the Korean report, Wedemeyer said:

"The United States has a strong strategic interest in insuring permanent military neutralization of Korea and its denial as a base to the Soviet Union."

Wedemeyer predicted:

"The Soviets will withdraw their occupation forces just as soon as they can be sure that the North Korean puppet government and armed forces which they have created will be strong enough and sufficiently well indoctrinated to be relied upon to carry out Soviet objectives without the actual presence of Soviet troops."

Among his recommendations, Wedemeyer suggested that the U. S.-Russian withdrawal be proportionate "with as many guarantees as possible to safeguard Korean freedom and independence."

He also urged military aid and supplies to South Korea, and proposed an "American-officered Korean scout force to replace the present constabulary of sufficient strength to cope with the threat from the north." He said, too, there should be "continued interim occupation by United States army forces in Korea."

FBI to Examine

gamblers and crooked policemen. Former Police Inspector Frederick A. Hofsaes appeared yesterday for the fourth time before the jury. Hofsaes, who quit the police force shortly after he was suspended, testified for one hour before the panel. His testimony presumably dealt with a television set he allegedly received in December, 1948, from big-time bookmaker Harry Gross.

Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand, who is directing the Brooklyn inquiry, said the former police official was subject to recall. Asked whether Hofsaes was cooperating in the investigation, Helfand replied, "he is answering questions."

Decker Gets 2 Months For Drunken Driving

Ephraim Decker of Sleightsburgh, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving a car while intoxicated as a second offender, was sentenced to two months in the country jail Monday afternoon in County Court by County Judge John M. Cashin. In addition he was fined $200 but payment of the fine was suspended.

George Deputy, 61, Stone Ridge, entered a plea of guilty to a morals charge as indicted and sentence will be pronounced on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Jurors were excused until June 4 at 2 p. m. when the April trial term of county court will be resumed.

Comment Is Declined

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The White House declined all comment today on the Senate Crime Investigating Committee's report.

Woman Was Killed By Stimulant, Is Jury's Decision

Nashville, Tenn., May 1 (AP)—Mrs. McNairy Motel Crutchfield died of an overdose of a heart stimulant, a coroner's jury ruled yesterday.

The 40-year-old widow died in convulsions Wednesday. Dr. Edward J. Shaw, 36, who had been associated with the woman in the operation of a clinic, was taken to Central State Mental Hospital for observation Thursday.

Mrs. Crutchfield was taken from the clinic last Wednesday and died less than half an hour later in a hospital. At the clinic and later at the hospital, Shaw administered stimulants in an effort to revive her.

District Attorney General J. Carlton Loser, commenting on the jury report, said no charges would be placed against Shaw pending the outcome of the hospital's observation.

The coroner's jury said the overdose which caused the woman's death was composed of caffeine and sodium benzoate.

Second Will Found

Meanwhile, authorities turned up a second will of Mrs. Crutchfield's which left the clinic to Shaw and named him guardian of her 15-month-old daughter.

An earlier will, already probated, empowered a bank to establish a trust fund for the child from the interest Mrs. Crutchfield held in the clinic.

Shaw came here nine months ago from New Rochelle, N. Y., to work in the clinic which was founded by the late Dr. Carl Crutchfield, nationally known cancer specialist.

Loser said the second will was found yesterday after three compartments of a safe in the clinic were unlocked.

Also found in the safe, Loser said, was a contract by which presumably the remaining rights in the clinic were sold to Dr. Shaw for $8,127. The contract, Loser added, was dated last Oct. 1 and sold to Shaw "all equipment and X-ray" to be paid for in monthly installments "according to his ability."

The debt was to carry six per cent interest and be paid within three years, the title meanwhile to be retained by Mrs. Crutchfield. Loser said only a small quantity of narcotics was found in the safe and added, "there is no evidence of a dope ring in the case."

Canadians Worry More

Ottawa, May 1 (AP)—Canadians worry more about the cost of high living than they do about the high cost of living, a lawmaker told fellow members of Parliament last night. Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, Progressive Conservative from British Columbia, told the House of Commons most Canadians were getting high wages and living "right up" to their income. He concluded: "As soon as there is a demand from the majority of the people of Canada to reduce the high cost of living, and not the cost of high living, then the government, whatever party may be in power, will accede to their wishes and something will be done."
